HEALTH SEEKERS

are out to secure nothing less than the most excellent thing in the world. It is possible for men and women to be healthy even under conditions not altogether favourable—as, for example, sedentary occupation, irregular meals, and other drawbacks. Such disadvantages should, of course, be corrected as far as possible. The most important thing is to maintain the digestive system in a state of efficiency; or to restore it to soundness when it has become disordered. To effect either purpose there is one Remedy to be preferred before all others—

THE SURVEYORS' INSTITUTION.

ANNUAL MEETING OF IRISH BRANCH.

The annual general meeting of the Surveyors' Institution (Irish Branch) was held on Wednesday at their offices, 110 Grafton street, Dublin. Mr. Ernest H. Browne, Chairman, presided, and there were also present:—Mr. C. Loftus Townshend (Vice-Chairman), Mr. A. H. Lee-Norman, Mr. C. K. Fowler, Mr. Claud J. Bourchier, Mr. W. Henn Hinde, Mr. J. Graves Clayton, Mr. Ernest J. Anthony, Mr. A. Edward Smith, Mr. V. C. Le Fanu, Mr. R. E. Maunsell, Mr. G. B. Garvey, Mr. Fane Vernon, and Mr. Frank S. Hall.

Apologies for unavoidable absence were received from Colonel John H. [illegible]aillie, Messrs. Chris. H. Maude, Travers R. Blackley, T. N. Edgeworth, Charles Dickinson, W. B. Carson, George F. Stewart, Harry Frank[illegible], and W. H. F. Verschoyle.

In the course of the annual report, which was submitted by the Secretary (Mr. B. J. Newcombe), it was stated that—The year under review has been a remarkable one for the vast amount of legislation introduced and carried into law in Parliament, many of the statutes closely affecting the interests of the members of the Irish branch, and to which your Committee gave their unremitting attention towards securing the best results. The Acts of Parliament passed included the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, which was carefully considered and recommendations formulated. The subsequent appointment of a member of the Irish branch, Captain George Hewson, as Official Arbitrator for Ireland under the Act, has given much satisfaction to the profession. The Housing of the Working Classes (Ireland) Act, the Forestry Act, the Labourers (Ireland) Act, and the Irish Land (Provision for Sailors and Soldiers) Act, were all discussed in their various stages, and suggestions for their amendment put forward by your Committee, and consultations between Government departments responsible for the working of some of the Acts and your Committee were afterwards held.

Important memoranda embodying the Irish branch views were also drawn up by your Committee for the Royal Commission on Income tax, the departmental inquiry on the Rent Restrictions Acts, and the Irish Agricultural Wages Board, in framing the Wages Order for 1920. Your Committee registered their emphatic protest against the continuance of the reduction of third term judicial rents by the Land Commission, in face of the enormously increased prices prevailing for every kind of farm produce and live stock. A very full epitomised return of the prices obtained for tenants' interests on sales of farms, inclusive of the whole country, was prepared, and sent to the Land Commission. Your Committee deplore the loss by death of two members during the year, namely, Mr. George B. Newport and Mr. Marcus Esdale, the latter being for many years a member of the Executive Committee, where his advice, on all questions affecting the section of the profession he so ably represented was of the greatest assistance.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, said that they had had a busy and strenuous year, and, as the report showed, had dealt with many subjects of great importance to their members and with a considerable measure of success. He thanked the Committee for their help during his chairmanship.

Mr. G. B. Garvey seconded the adoption of the report, which was unanimously adopted.

The outgoing Chairman, Mr. Browne, proposed that Mr. C. Loftus Townshend, Vice-Chairman, be elected Chairman for the ensuing year.

Mr. R. E. Maunsell seconded the proposal, which was carried with acclamation.

Mr. Townshend returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him.

Mr. George B. Young was unanimously elected Vice-Chairman for the coming year.

PENDING LEGISLATION.

A lengthy discussion took place regarding the promised Land Purchase Act by the Government on the lines of the Irish Convention report, it being finally decided to refer this matter to the Parliamentary Bills sub-Committee, with instructions to take immediate action of summoning of special meeting of the Irish branch whenever the bill is about to be introduced.

A resolution conveying the best thanks of the meeting to the retiring Chairman, office bearers, and the Executive Committee, for their excellent services during the year, was proposed by Mr. E. J. Anthony, seconded by Mr. F. S. Hall, and adopted. The outgoing Chairman expressed his acknowledgments.

The Committee nominated Messrs. E. J. Anthony and A. Edward Smith as scrutineers of the voting for the election of members to serve on the Executive Committee.

HOUSING.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD have suggested to the Urban District Council the Local Authority for the Urban District, that the attention of Builders, Employers of Labour, and other persons in the locality should be specially directed to the fact that the Grants by H.M. Treasury to private persons building small houses for themselves or others have been increased by £100, in each case, such increases to be retrospective to cases already submitted, and to be restricted to cases for which plans are submitted to the Local Authority before the 30th June, 1920, and the houses finished by 23rd December, 1920, unless the delay is due to causes over which the person constructing the houses has no control. BUT in no case can more than four months' extension be allowed.

THE CONCESSION now made means that subject to this time limit the Grants to persons constructing houses, in accordance with the conditons, will vary from £230 to £260 per house, according to accommodation provided, instead of £130 to £160.

They are not Loans, but FREE GRANTS.

SUBJECT TO THE CONDITIONS being complied with, there is no restriction on the disposal of the houses, which may be sold or let without restriction as to price or rent.

A copy of the detailed conditions as to planning and construction may be obtained from the SECRETARY, HOUSING COMMITTEE, LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD, Dublin, OR MAY BE SEEN AT THIS OFFICE.

NEW CHURCH TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,

LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.

A Temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.

It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.

The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by Very Rev. RICHARD BOWDEN, Adm.,

SATURDAY, MAY 15, 1920.

Telegrams from Warsaw state that the Poles are strengthening their position on the lower Dnieper and advancing in the Steppes around Kieff and Podelia. They are only a few days' march from Odessa.

The Ambassadors' Conference in Paris yesterday resumed consideration of the Sleswig problem.

Telegrams from Paris state that the general strike situation is hopeful, and that the number of men resuming work is on the increase.

The House of Commons yesterday gave a second reading to the Importation of Plumage (Prohibition) Bill, the Blind Persons Bill, and the Representation of the People (No. 3) Bill. The Representation of the People (No. 2) Bill was read a third time.

The French Premier and his party arrived at Folkestone last evening for a conference with Mr. Lloyd George in connection with the coming meeting with the German delegates at Spa.

At the Post Office Workers' Conference at Morecambe yesterday a strike policy was adopted. A telegram from the Dublin Post Office clerks was received with cheers and the singing of the "Red Flag."

At the meeting of the Council of Agriculture in Dublin yesterday the Most Rev. Dr. Kelly, Roman Catholic Bishop of Ross, made an important statement calling attention to the existing conditions of Ireland from the social and economic standpoint.

According to the official figures the attendance at the Royal Dublin Society's Agricultural Show on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday was 29,760. In 1919 the figures were 20,373.

At the meeting of the Council of Agriculture yesterday Mr. T. P. Gill, the Secretary, announced his desire to resign at an early date. A resolution was passed asking Mr Gill to reconsider the matter.

At the annual meeting of the National Hospital for Consumption in Ireland, yesterday, in Dublin, it was stated that the work of the hospital had been carried on with results which amply justified the confidence ungrudgingly shown by the public.

At the inquest yesterday on William McCabe, who was shot in Killiney on Wednesday night, the jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against some person or persons unknown.

In a letter to Mr. John Good, Chairman of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, the Chief Secretary states that the question of ships for conveying coal to Ireland was in the hands of the Shipping Controller, and he could not interfere. There was, however, priority for Irish ships in South Wales ports. In reply Mr. Good points out that this priority in favour of Irish ships is not recognised in South Wales ports, and that the coal shipments to Ireland were 75,000 tons less in April than in March.

The Manor Handicap at Haydock Park yesterday was won by Mr. M. Bode's Esplanadian (7 to 1 against). Mr. A. G. Burney's Old Bill was second, and Mr. J. J. Greenwood's Girvan third. The Alexandra 3-Y.O. Handicap at Gatwick was won by Mr. W. Raphael's Poltava (2 to 1 agst). Sir E. Cassel's Herod Philip was second, and His Majesty's Dayspring third.

London Stock Markets closed the week quietly, but the immediate outlook is distrusted, and variations in price were irregular. Loans were again in strong demand, and discount rates were firm. In Dublin the Stock Market had more strong features. Textiles were weak.

The German Indemnity.

M. Millerand arrived in England yesterday, and the conference between him and Mr. Lloyd George will begin to-day. The Peace Conference, since January of last year, has undergone many changes. The "Big Ten," like the little nigger boys in the nursery rhyme, have dropped off one by one, until now only two remain. To-day's conversations at Lympne will be of the highest importance. There are a thousand things to settle, but Mr. Lloyd George and M. Millerand will probably confine their attention to two of them. One is the Spa Conference, the other the German indemnity. Originally the meeting at Spa was arranged to take place this month. Representations from Germany, however, and the passing of Signor Nitti have changed the situation. The Germans want the Conference to be postponed on account of their elections, which take place early in June. They argue that the success or failure of their delegates to Spa might be used for political purposes in Germany, and that, therefore, the Allies would be well advised to wait until the elections are over. There is a good deal to be said for this point of view. However, the fall of Signor Nitti makes postponement inevitable. Without Italy nothing can be done, and the presence of the Italian Premier at Spa—be he Signor Nitti or somebody else—is absolutely essential. In this connection, nevertheless, the Conference near Folkestone has an important duty. Nobody seems to know exactly on what terms the Germans are coming to Spa. The German Press declares that they must be treated as equals by the Allied delegates—that is to say, that they will be free to discuss, to argue, and to vote. "If," writes the Berliner Tageblatt, "all the words of Mr. Lloyd George and Signor Nitti were only empty echoes, and Germany's representatives are not to be admitted on a footing of equality, they may not, and cannot, go to Spa." We do not know to what "words" the Tageblatt refers, but, so far as we are aware, there never was any question of equality in the matter. We may be wrong, but our impression was that the Germans have been invited to Spa purely in a consultative capacity. As at Paris, they will be permitted to state their case; beyond that they will have no locus standi. A definite pronouncement on this point is very necessary.

The chief topic at Lympne, as at Spa, will be Germany's debt to the Allies. For that reason the opportunity of a tête-à-tête between Mr. Lloyd George and M. Millerand is especially valuable. Great Britain and France are firm friends; but for all that their views are not identical. To us the amount of money to be extracted from Germany is a minor matter; to the French it is the essence of their victory. The problem, therefore, is delicate. Everybody now agrees that, whatever Germany must pay, the sum should be definitely fixed. The great question is—how much? Germany says £2,000,000,000. Naturally, Great Britain says about £5,000,000,000. France, however, demands double our estimate. According to the well-informed Correspondent of The Times in Paris, M. Millerand will make a definite proposal to Mr. Lloyd George to-day. He will claim for France the total amount due by Germany according to the Peace Treaty—roughly, about £10,000,000,000. He will admit the priority of Belgium's claim and also the complete impossibility of getting such a sum from Germany. To guarantee the money for France, however, he will propose that, in proportion as the sum fixed by the Reparation Commission may fall short of £10,000,000,000, the creditor Allies shall cancel a part of the debts owed to them by the debtor Allies. In plain English, this proposal seems to be that if, for example, the Reparation Commission fixes £5,000,000,000 as the amount to be paid by the Germans, Great Britain shall cancel half her loans to France. America, of course, is out of the question. Now, this proposal raises a very serious issue. If accepted, it would mean that Great Britain would pay a large indemnity to France. The British people recognise that their losses in the war cannot be compared with those of the French. Yet every Briton is paying over £15 per annum in direct taxation, whereas in France the amount per head is only a little over £2. Until the results of the Lympne Conference are known, however, criticism of the French proposals would be futile. In a matter of such weight the public must be supplied with all the facts. It can be trusted to examine them with sympathy and with care.

Perils of Partition.

Mr. T. P. Gill informed the Council of Agriculture yesterday of his intention to resign the Secretaryship of the Department. Having been, in a sense, one of the Department's authors and having served it since its foundation, he has earned his forthcoming leisure. His knowledge and experience will continue to be at the country's disposal, and, we have no doubt, will help in some calmer time to put our system of technical education on a sound footing. Mr. Barrie, the Vice-President, spoke in the warmest terms of Mr. Gill's work for the Department, and a resolution asking him to withdraw his resignation was proposed by a Roman Catholic bishop and seconded by a leader of Ulster Unionism. There is a hopeful moral in these incidents. When Mr. Gill was appointed Secretary to the Department—he had been a Nationalist member of Parliament—a storm of opposition was raised in Unionist quarters. When Sir Thomas Russell became Vice-President the clamour was renewed. When Mr. Barrie succeeded Sir Thomas, it was the Nationalists' turn to protest, and some of their newspapers howled with rage. What happened? Mr. Gill has been an excellent Secretary. Sir Thomas Russell was an earnest and sometimes fiery advocate of the agricultural interests of a united Ireland. Mr. Barrie has won the respect and confidence of Irish farmers on both sides of the Boyne. All found themselves in a field in which they were Irishmen first and politicians afterwards—if at all. The same spirit has imbued the large membership of the Council of Agriculture. North and South have worked together with equal zeal and equal success—in proof whereof we may cite Mr. Barrie's statement that the value of our major agricultural exports increased from twenty-four to sixty-four millions between 1905 and 1919. When the real issues of Irish life find themselves "up against" the unnatural theory of partition they make short work of it. The Labour embargo on certain exports began in Belfast, and Dublin was solid with Belfast within twenty-four hours. Yesterday leading members of the Ulster Farmers' Union advocated a single organisation of farmers for the whole of Ireland. Curiously enough, all the resistance to this proposal comes from the "anti-partitionist" farmers of the South. Finally, there is the portent of the reception which the Council gave to the Bishop of Ross's address. It was, in effect, a most powerful plea for a united Ireland, and the voices which applauded it most loudly included those of Unionists from the North.

We can recall no saner or more convincing appeal to the good sense of Irishmen than Dr. Kelly's address to the Council of Agriculture. He ignored all the confusing battle-cries of our politics and got down to the bed-rock facts of the Irish situation. Even if the Government succeeds in restoring law and order, and even if a tolerable settlement of the Irish question is achieved in the near future, a vital conflict will remain to be fought out by the Irish people on Irish soil. It is the battle between social revolution and ordered progress. The revolutionary movement is strong everywhere, and has begun to be formidable in this country. Its aim, as Dr. Kelly showed, is government by the proletariat to the exclusion, and at the expense, of real democracy—government, not by all the workers, but by a tyrannical section of the workers. Ireland, however, is still one of the most conservative countries in the world, by reason of her religion and by reason also of the widespread distribution of what the Greeks called "visible property." Of the 910,000 families in Ireland 552,000 are occupiers of land. If this large army of property-holders sticks together, politically and economically, no other force will be able to defeat it. If it allows itself to be weakened by artificial divisions, its ruin may be only a question of time. The main point of the Bishop's address was frankly political. He warned the Ulster Unionists that the proposed six-county State would be a sure breeding place for a proletarian revolution, and that the only safeguard must be found in the level distribution of the political influence of the conservative classes over the whole area of a united Ireland. We feel—as the Council of Agriculture clearly felt—that the urgency of the danger justified Dr. Kelly's insistence on this profound truth. Different politicians will employ his argument in different ways. It is, for instance, a strong argument in favour of the maintenance of the Act of Union. It is a good argument in favour of the inclusion of all the nine counties of Ulster in the present Home Rule Bill's Northern State. It is, however, an absolutely convincing argument against the scheme of permanent partition which will be forced on Ireland if the Bill becomes law. Anarchy in the South and industrial revolution in the North—these are the blessings that the British Government contemplates for a land which, but for British stupidity and Irish lunacy, might have been to-day the happiest and most peaceful country in Europe.

Dublin's Coal Supply.

The correspondence which has passed between the Dublin Chamber of Commerce and the Chief Secretary shows that an immediate improvement in the coal situation need not be expected. In fulfilment of his promise Sir Hamar Greenwood got into communication with the Coal Controller. He was told that Dublin's difficulties were due entirely to the shortage of ships, and accordingly he made urgent representations to the Ministry of Shipping. In reply he received a most disconcerting statement. In effect it means that the Shipping Controller has abandoned his efforts to meet our needs. He has cancelled the order which allocated certain steamers to the Irish trade, and says that the solution of the problem lies with Irish merchants. They can go into the open market and charter as many vessels as they need. In other words, we must offer ship-owners terms which will induce them to divert their vessels from other trade routes. The Shipping Controller makes a great point of the fact that during the month of March shipments to Ireland increased considerably. He must know, however, that since then the amount of coal carried to this country has decreased steadily. We hope that Sir Hamar Greenwood will not allow the matter to rest where it is. The Chamber of Commerce has supplied him with overwhelming evidence that the new arrangement is not a success.

Lady Golfers.

Ireland's representatives gave a very good account of themselves in the Ladies' Golf Championship Meeting, which concluded yesterday at Newcastle, Co. Down. On Thursday there was a prospect that two of them might reach the final, but that was not to be. Miss M. C. Alexander, who carried the hopes of Belfast golfers, was beaten by a single stroke in the fourth round; and in the semi-final the Irish champion, Miss Janet Jackson, was defeated on the eighteenth green. The final was fought out by Miss Molly Griffiths, of Sunningdale, a girl of twenty years of age, and Miss Cecil Leitch, the holder of the Championship. Miss Leitch had an easy victory—a fact which surprised nobody. Her wide knowledge of championship strategy stood her in good stead. Temperament, nerve, and coolness are invaluable assets to the golfer who has to play before a crowd of a thousand critical experts. Miss Griffiths had no experience of such a situation, and her game suffered in consequence. On the other hand, Miss Leitch played slowly and deliberately throughout the match, and never missed a shot. Her success was well deserved, and every Irish golfer will congratulate her upon it.

APPOINTMENT OF LORDS JUSTICES.

At a meeting of the Privy Council held on Thursday in the Council Chamber, Dublin Castle, the Right Hon. the Lord Chancellor and the Right Hon. Sir John Ross, Bart., were sworn Lords Justices for the Government of Ireland during the absence of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant.

IRISH AGRICULTURAL WAGES BOARD.

The Agricultural Wages Board for Ireland met at their offices, 14 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, on Thursday, Mr. J. V. Coyle presiding. The Board had under consideration the general progress of their work, including various matters connected with the enforcement of their Orders. They also dealt with a number of applications for exemption from the minimum wage scheme for agricultural workers.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The statement made by the Lord Chancellor last night that protection is to be given to the Irish police has been received here with great satisfaction. It is generally recognised that these men have been most patient under a great and prolonged strain. Few people here realise, even now, what is happening in Ireland, and the long lists of outrages daily taking place either escape notice or are not received by the newspapers. Yet Ireland is not so far away that the echoes of its disorders should escape public notice. The Irish Office might do worse than supply the London newspapers with official news on the state of affairs in Ireland.

Lord French's visit to London is to enable him to carry out two important engagements. On Monday at the Guildhall he is to receive the Freedom of the City of London in company with Lord Jellicoe, and later on in the week he is to go to Ypres to present the Military Cross to that historic place.

On Monday Mr. Tickler will ask the Chief Secretary if he can report any improvement in the treatment of ex-Service men living in Ireland, and what measures are being taken to stop the persecutions under which they are suffering.

The Peace Conference meeting near Folkestone is taking place at Lympne, a beautiful place belonging to Sir Philip Sassoon, who is one of the Prime Minister's secretaries. It is not roomy enough to accommodate all the visitors desired, but Mr. Lloyd George and M. Millerand will stay in the House as guests, while rooms will be taken in the neighbourhood for the staff accompanying the French Premier. Mr. Bonar Law, Mr. A. Chamberlain, and Lord Derby are to take part in the conference.

Seven Zeppelins are reported to have passed over Warsaw, going from Germany to Russia. This, if true, is a distinct breach of the Treaty of Versailles, and the Allies should lose no time in demanding that these engines of war should be surrendered. Supposing that those seven Zeppelins had been directed against Paris or London the situation might have been very serious, since it is unlikely that either France or Britain is in a position to attack these airships without warning. It is becoming more and more evident that the Germans will need very careful watching in the future. The great enemy to the peace of Europe has not yet been rendered harmless. It is just as well that, as Mr. Churchill announced this week in the House of Commons, our anti-aircraft defences have not been entirely "demobbed."

After its long vigil on national health insurance last night, the House of Commons met at noon to-day in a rather chastened mood. Very few members were in attendance, and there was no obstruction. Commander Kenworthy was not in his place, and of the trio who yesterday poured forth such volumes of talk on the "Profiteering" Bill, Major Barnes alone had sufficiently recovered to enter the fray. There were ten orders on the paper, five emanating from private members, and five for which the Government were responsible. The first, the Women's Franchise Bill, was ruled out of order by the Speaker, as a similar Bill was being considered by the Committee upstairs. Mr. Brace tried to argue the point, but the Speaker reminded him that the Chair, like the Pope, was infallible.

The second order, a measure qualifying clergymen for the House of Commons or municipal corporations, went the way of the first. It appeared that the Bill had not been printed. In this the Speaker impartially apportioned the blame between Colonel Burgoyne and an official of the House who seemed to have pigeon-holed the draft and forgotten all about it. Colonel Burgoyne was mildly admonished for not looking better after his offspring, whilst the Speaker promised to deal with the unfortunate official. The third order, the Importation of Plumage (Prohibition) Bill, which was talked out a fortnight ago, was read a second time without discussions.

Very little debate was sufficient for the rejection of the fourth order, a modest Bill sponsored by Sir F. Banbury, who, resenting Government interference with farmers, sought to repeal the Corn Production Acts. A similar fate awaited another of Sir F. Banbury's measures. This was a Bill having reference to the use of trade union funds for political purposes, and it was negatived without even a division. Some minor Government Bills were then taken. A second reading was given to the Bill abolishing the interval between the polling at Parliamentary elections and the counting of the votes, but duly safeguarding the rights of absent voters. A Bill empowering harbour, dock, and pier undertakings temporarily to increase their charges was also read a second time after a vigorous protest from Major Barnes.

A Bill that proved of real interest was one introduced by Dr. Addison, which provided for the training of blind persons capable of work, the maintenance of institutions by local authorities, and the application of the old age pensions to the blind of 50 years of age or above. The measure was warmly welcomed in all parts of the House, and was read a second time.

Further light on the "Wee Frees'" claim that they and the Labour members are only two branches of a progressive party equally opposed to the Coalition was thrown during the all-night sitting. The Health Insurance Bill, a measure in which Labour is vitally interested, was subjected to deliberate obstruction by Captain Wedgwood Benn and other Independent Liberals, until at last Mr. Myers and Mr. McLean, of the Labour Party, could stand it no longer, and solemnly rebuked them for their conduct.

The Food Controller could hardly have chosen a more unfortunate moment for his appeal to the public to "eat more meat." We seem to have jumped straight into summer, and the weather to-day was almost hot enough to make one long for the Irishmen's conception of an ideal dinner—"a lettuce and a deal of drink." In any case, I doubt whether Mr. McCurdy's adjuration was wise. For years past the doctors have been telling us that, as a nation, we eat too much meat. The war compelled us to take their advice, and most of us—at any rate, those who are getting on in years—are all the better for it, and have no intention of changing our habits a second time.

Sugar may be one penny per ounce before very long, owing to the price that has now to be paid for it in the open market, if a subsidy from the State is to be avoided. Sugar is not an article of food that can be easily produced, but it certainly seems that it must pay to produce beet sugar in this country, and it is to be hoped that those interested in this industry will proceed on the most expeditious lines. With such an advance in the price of sugar will come a general advance in the price of jams, preserves, and confectionery.

THE WOMEN'S LEGION IN IRELAND.

An Official Tribute.

The following appeared in the general routine orders of the Irish Command on the 12th inst.:—

"The Commander-in-Chief desires to place on record his high appreciation of the services which have been rendered by the Women's Legion in Ireland during and since the war. Their devotion to duty has been unflagging, and the skill shown in driving, and the care they have always bestowed on their vehicles, have won general approbation. On the occasion of the demobilisation of the last remaining representatives of the Legion in Ireland, he wishes to thank all members, past and present, for the services they so ably rendered to their country in the hour of need."

COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURE.

BIG INCREASE IN EXPORTS.

FARMERS AND LIBERTY HALL.

MR. GILL'S IMPENDING RETIREMENT.

The thirty-seventh meeting of the Council of Agriculture in connection with the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction was held yesterday in the Lecture Theatre of the Royal Dublin Society, Leinster House, Dublin. The Vice-President, Mr. Hugh T. Barrie, M.P., occupied the chair, and there was a large attendance.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The Vice-President said that when the Council met in November last he was unable to preside over their deliberations owing to illness. He was deeply grateful to the Council for its kind expressions of sympathy. Within the last few weeks the country had lost by death the late Vice-President of the Department, Sir Thomas Russell. His advancing years had not prevented his taking the keenest interest in public affairs, and particularly in everything concerning the agricultural industry, up to the beginning of the short illness which terminated in his death. He was a man whose many fine personal qualities won him the esteem of all who came in contact with him in public life, including those who differed from him most widely in his political views. He (Mr. Barrie) was sure that the members of the Council would wish to join with him, and with Sir Thomas's former colleagues in the Department, in conveying to Lady Russell and her family an expression of their sincere sympathy with them in their great loss. (Hear, hear.) During the war and since the armistice every country had been preparing and striving for a largely increased export trade, and they would doubtless wish to have some statement as to the volume of Irish agricultural exports. The figures would show that they had not done badly. A large proportion of the growth was due to the rise in prices. In the year 1908—a satisfactory year from an agricultural point of view—the value of poultry, eggs, and feathers exported was estimated at £3,500,000. The value of these same commodities exported last year increased to £18,500,000. In respect of the same years the value of the exports of cattle rose from £11,000,000 to £27,000,000; pigs and pig products from £5,000,000 to £9,000,000, and potatoes from £379,000 to £2,260,000. The one unsatisfactory item was butter, which, though it yielded an increased export value, viz., £5,000,000 in 1919, as compared with £4,000,000 in 1908, showed a substantial decrease in quantity. That to some extent only was offset by the increasing quantity of milk converted into cheese. The export of this latter commodity, which was valued at £9,000 only in 1908 was in 1919 valued at not less than £2,000,000. Comparing that list of agricultural commodities, which was by no means exhaustive, for the two years, they had a total export estimated at £24,000,000 in 1908, and in 1919 estimated at £84,000,000. During the war, the Department's staff had to turn their attention to the problems of the hour, and the task of securing for this country a share of the fertilisers and other agricultural requisites, without which food production was impossible. The situation in regard to supplies was now greatly improved, and it had been possible for a considerable number of the staff to resume their former duties. Application had been made to the Treasury for permission to strengthen the staff to meet the new permanent duties of the central organisation, and for a grant to enable the Department to supplement the funds of the County Committees to meet the cost of more highly developed educational schemes. The Department were hopeful of a sympathetic response to their application, and they were looking forward to making a distinct advance along those educational lines, including a large development of research work, which experience had shown to be most fruitful of results.

THE DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

He singled out for special mention the need of fostering an extension in the dairying industry—on which rested not only their milk and butter supplies, but their greatest industry of all—viz., cattle rearing and export. It was, unfortunately, the case that not only their export, but their output of butter, had fallen very seriously in quantity, if not in value. Cheese-making had increased to a very great extent, but even if allowance were made for this and for the increased consumption of butter at home, there was still a deficiency which had to be accounted for on other grounds. A committee was appointed by the Department last year to inquire into the matter, and he was informed that the result of their inquiries would be submitted to the Department immediately. The Department would do their utmost to restore prosperity to dairying. The Development Commission had been asked to increase the Department's grant for cow testing, one of the many aids to increased milk production, and the Department were at the moment in conference with the Irish Agricultural Organisation Society, with a view of making a joint attempt to improve and increase cow testing through co-operative societies.

NEW LEGISLATION.

Existing conditions brought about by the war or by the natural march of events necessitated a certain amount of new legislation bearing directly upon agriculture. First in order of importance was the amendment of the Corn Production Act. For the smoother working of the tillage schemes certain amendments—in detail only—in the Third Schedule to the Act were desirable, and it was hoped to effect these in the Agriculture Bill, the early introduction of which was promised. The cereal prices in the Act required amendment, too, and the Department would endeavour to see that when this was done Irish conditions would be considered, and particularly the point that the increased cost of freights on imports of agricultural requisites, as well as on exports of the finished article, greatly increased the cost of production and marketing in Ireland—a cost from which the British farmer was exempt. Extended negotiations with the Ministry of Agriculture and the Scottish Board of Agriculture had taken place regarding the embodiment in an Act of the condition imposed under the Defence of the Realm Act during the past two years on the sale of agricultural seeds. On the whole, the Department had found the Weeds and Seeds Act of 1909, which applied to Ireland alone, worked extremely well in this particular. It was framed solely with a view to Irish conditions, and the Department did not feel disposed to discard it for a different system. Nevertheless, legislation for Great Britain must affect Ireland inasmuch as Irish seed growers and cleaners found an important and increasing demand for their seed in Great Britain, while there was a considerable cross-Channel trade in seed for garden and field crops. The Department were watching the situation with great care with a view to securing the maximum of good with the minimum of disturbance to the agricultural seeds industry. With the object of conserving the supply of fertilisers in the United Kingdom a bill had been introduced by the Ministry of Agriculture prohibiting for a period of two years the export of certain manures. This had had the whole-hearted support of the Department. An Allotments Bill and a bill dealing with bee diseases were in preparation. The question of the licensing of bulls, boars, rams, and stallions would come up that day on one of the resolutions on the agenda.

THE FLAX CROP.

The 1919 flax crop, by request of the growers, was controlled by the Government, originally at the price of 35s. per stone for first grade, subsequently increased to 45s. per stone. The value, owing to world scarcity, continued to advance and there was considerable discontent among farmers because they were not participating in the unexpected profits apparently being made by the spinners. In these circumstances, the Department felt justified in calling a meeting of farmers and spinners to consider the position. After protracted negotiations an agreement was arrived at under which the spinners undertook to pay a bonus of £160 per ton on all flax marketed during the remainder of the season up to 31st August next, this money to be credited to a fund which would at the end of the season be equally distributed to the growers who had sold prior to the 20th March, as well as to all who willingly marketed during the period subsequent to the agreement. Under this arrangement 2,500 tons of flax had since been marketed, and there was already a sum approximating to £400,000 in the hands of the trustees. He was hopeful that by 31st August a minimum quantity of 4,000 tons would easily be reached. This would provide a fund for distribution amounting to £640,000, and would enable a bonus payment to be made to all growers who had sold to the Flax Committee at about 6s. per stone. This, he trusted, would prove a not unwelcome addition to their farmers' receipts from their flax crop of 1919. The arrangement was an entirely voluntary one, and in his judgment the spinners' attitude in their negotiations was entirely creditable. They were glad to know that this year's acreage was likely to be in excess of that of any year appearing in the Department's records.

EXPORT OF POTATOES.

Throughout the season just ending the Department had had in operation for the first time a system of inspection of all potatoes intended for export. This was a step which was premeditated in 1915, with the object of raising the general standard of Irish potatoes on British and foreign markets. The value of the Department's certificate had been greatly appreciated in Great Britain, and had added substantially to the market value of Irish potatoes. Already they had received numerous representations asking that the system should be continued. For the first time they had found Irish potatoes selling in British markets at prices as high as those obtained for the best grades of either English or Scotch grown. Though the acreage under potatoes in the seven exporting counties was 30,996 acres less than in the previous year, it was rather remarkable to find that the total export pro-

IRISH OUTRAGES.

The Times, in a leading article to-day, says:—There has been during the last few days a fresh and serious outbreak of incendiarism and crime in Ireland. A number of police barracks have been burned, and there have been further attacks on income tax offices. Following so swiftly on the recent series of murders of Irish police officers, these events have stirred strong indignation in this country. Many who are the true friends of Ireland, and are prepared to advocate wide and generous concessions to Irish political demands, are, nevertheless, grievously [illegible] and indefensible policy which the Irish extremists have foisted on their [illegible]men, while no one may ignore the grave injury that is being wrought to the cause of Irish liberty in Great Britain by those who have chosen such means of seeking to establish it. It is, indeed, difficult to discern aught save malign Nihilism in the deeds of violence which are daily perpetrated in Ireland. Not merely are they calculated to arouse the stern resentment of this country, and to discredit the name of Ireland among reasonable men throughout the world, but there is serious danger that they may provoke the bitterest passions in Ireland herself. The most earnest desire of every Irish Nationalist is a united country. Sinn Feiners themselves have not been slow to denounce the policy of partition, and yet acts of intense provocation to Unionist feeling have been perpetrated in the heart of Ulster. It would seem as though those whom the spirit of destruction has thus possessed are blind or careless as to the extent to which they may embroil their own country in the most dire internal strife. In regard to the obligation which rests upon the Government to protect by every means in their power the lives of their servants in Ireland there can be no dispute. Unquestionably, they possess the right to demand the support of all patriotic citizens of this country for such measures as may, indeed, be essential to this end. The fact that in the past there have been grave errors both in their Irish policy and in their Irish administration does not affect this elementary duty, and if, in order to fulfil it, powers additional to those which the Irish Executive now possesses are required, they should, as we stated on Thursday, unquestionably be conferred. Methods of conciliation, though we have long pressed for their employment, could not in any circumstances be suffered to include complacency towards murder. Nevertheless, the present condition of Ireland is a grave reproach to the Ministry. For more than a year they have permitted their representatives in that country to pursue a policy of clumsy repression, which was not alone manifestly ineffectual, but has had the result of uniting moderate Irish opinion in suspicion and resentment, while the power that they sought to crush waxed all the stronger by reason of their folly. At the General Election they asked a mandate for the introduction of a measure of self-government for Ireland. Had they shown that promptness which betokens zeal, and at least convinced Ireland that they were possessed of determination and good-will in this matter, we have never doubted that they would have averted many of the evils which have since come upon that country. Their conduct in regard to the Government of Ireland Bill, The Times proceeds, shows plainly that, though they may at last be prepared to obviate some of the grosser defects of their Irish administration, they are still unable to comprehend the development of the political problem which they confront. By the mere exhibition of formulated proposals they have mesmerised the House of Commons and themselves. We are reluctantly constrained to question whether aught save the crash of the present proposals upon the hard facts of the Irish situation will succeed in rousing either from their trance.

THE WEALTH INQUIRY.

In an editorial article to-day, The Times says:—Whatever may be the eventual outcome of the labours of the Select Committee which has been considering the question of a levy on war-time increases of wealth, Sir William Pearce and his colleagues are to be congratulated on the persistency with which they have tackled a very difficult problem. If the inquiry had broken down half-way, as it threatened to [illegible] result would have satisfied nobody, least of all the advocates of a levy on capital, and the Committee was, therefore, wise in carrying its inquiry, in face of many discouragements, to a logical conclusion. It is important to remember that the inquiry had its origin in the widespread public resentment of "profiteering," and the conviction that very large and excessive profits had been secured by contractors and others out of munitions and stores supplied to the Government. Public opinion very rightly considered that people who had made large fortunes by selling commodities at scarcity prices, thus making profit out of this nation's necessities, should be called upon to make a special contribution to the reduction of the enormous burden of debt which the war has left upon the shoulders of the taxpayer. This opinion is still held, and it has to be reckoned with until it has been proved impracticable to distinguish between wealth acquired in the circumstances we have explained and wealth obtained in other and honourable ways. The scheme called Scale C 2, which the Committee has submitted as practicable, adds The Times, does not differ in principle from that originally submitted by the Board of Inland Revenue. It represents no more than an effort by the Committee to produce a scheme which would meet the more serious objections of the witnesses who were called upon to give evidence. It is estimated that not more than 75,000 taxpayers would be liable to pay duty under this scheme, and that the yield to the Exchequer would not be below £500,000,000. A person with £25,000, or less, of pre-war wealth would be allowed an abatement of 100 per cent. in respect of any addition made between June 30th, 1914, and June 30th, 1919, the scale of abatement being reduced gradually to 30 per cent. in cases where the pre-war wealth was over £500,000. The scheme contemplates a sliding scale of duty, with a minimum of 40 and a maximum of 50 per cent. It is claimed that the scale of abatement provides a liberal allowance for savings, and gives an appreciable recognition of the depreciation in the value of the pound. The scheme is undoubtedly a great improvement on the plans previously submitted to the Committee, but it entirely fails to deal in an equitable manner with the problem. As Mr. MacQuisten points out in a minority report, a person who had increased his wealth from £50,000 to £100,000 would have to pay £11,725, while another who had £500,000 before the war and had made an additional £150,000 would make no payment at all. Such a scheme may be practicable, but it is obviously unjust. In these circumstances it is not surprising that the Committee, in submitting its report, refrains from recommending its adoption. Its faint-heartedness in this respect condemns it. The decision as to whether or not the scheme shall be adopted is left to Parliament. We are by no means satisfied, concludes The Times, that it is impossible to distinguish between wealth acquired in different ways. Those persons who have made large profits out of Government contracts, shipping, oil, and other commodities, can, no doubt, be traced through the resources which the Inland Revenue has at its disposal. Even if these profits have been distributed among large numbers of shareholders, it ought to be possible to trace their destination, since they must be reflected in the returns of unearned income. It would probably be necessary to set up a special tribunal for the purposes of making assessments, and of giving those assessed an opportunity of proving that the wealth they had acquired was not obtained out of excessive profits made possible by war conditions. It is difficult to believe that it is an insuperable task to differentiate between a person who had saved £5,000 by the practice of thrift, and one who had secured that sum by making a highly profitable contract with a Government Department. We believe that an attempt to make a levy on capital without differentiation would fail to satisfy public opinion, and would prove of the greatest injury to the credit of the country.

LIBERALS AND MR. ASQUITH.

Lady Bonham Carter, in a letter to The Times to-day, says:—I see that Sir Gordon Hewart, in his speech at the Central Hall (reported in your issue of May 12th), refers to the "ingenious and sinister character of the resolution" passed at Leamington at the recent meeting of the National Liberal Federation, and complains that "those who were responsible for its framing had carefully contrived that none of them should congratulate Mr. Asquith on his return to the House of Commons, except upon the terms of affirming that the Coalition Government could not continue without a sacrifice of principle." May I ask if the Coalition Liberal Ministers wish to congratulate my father on his return to the House of Commons; and, if so, why they remain members of a Government which did its level best to keep him out of it? If they are ready and willing to take an active part in driving their "fellow Liberals" out of public life, they have surely no just cause for grievance if they are denied the pleasure of "congratulating" those who survive. "We failed to do him in—and now he won't even shake hands!" is what their complaint amounts to. I cannot believe that it will arouse much sympathy in any quarter.

POLITE PIRATES.

TEA AND LEMONADE FOR VICTIMS.

A BLACK SEA INCIDENT.

Reuter's New York Correspondent telegraphs: The Associated Press Correspondent at Constantinople, in a despatch, dated May 12, says:—The French steamer Gouirah, which was raided by pirates among the deck passengers, near Batum, on May 6, finally docked at Constantinople this morning, and 300 penniless and indignant passengers came ashore in driving rain, denouncing with the profanity of a score of languages the British Passport Control at Batum, the failure of the British to disarm the robbers before they were allowed to embark on the Gouirah, the negligence of the steamship company in not placing an armed guard on board the vessel, and, above all, the tameness with which the crew submitted to the bandits. The announcement that the Gouirah will be provided with a naval guard before leaving for Marseilles on Friday has only intensified the indignity of the passengers, who refuse to believe that the robbery would have occurred without the connivance of some persons employed on board the ship. The captain of the Gouirah has refused to discuss the affair, further than to say that he made a report to the French Naval authorities here. The French embassy would throw no light on his report, but it is announced that in future all French ships in the Black Sea will carry a guard. The Inter-Allied censorship has suppressed the news of the robbery in the Constantinople Press, but the passengers are giving the affair wide publicity, and demanding compensation for their loss. The British and Italian ships in the Black Sea have all been carrying guards, but the French vessels have been travelling without guards for several months. Mr. James Wood, a Y.M.C.A. worker from Glasgow, who witnessed the "hold-up," says that the thieves showed great courtesy, frequently asking the passengers they were searching whether they wanted lemonade or tea, and ordering the stewards to bring refreshments. Before leaving the ship, one of the robbers threw the stewards a thousand-franc note, which he had just taken from a passenger. The thieves courteously returned all Don roubles to the passengers, saying that they only wanted real money. They also had a committee of experts to pass judgment on jewels suspected of being imitations. Mr. Woods says that the leader of the gang was wearing the uniform of a Tartar officer, and was not masked.

THE POLISH ADVANCE.

A FEW DAYS' MARCH FROM ODESSA.

BOLSHEVISTS RETREATING FROM KIEFF.

Reuter learns that, according to a Warsaw message, the Poles are strengthening their position on the Lower Dnieper, and advancing in the Steppes around Kieff and in Podolia. They hold the railway system of Podolia, and are only a few days' march from Odessa. The Bolshevik defenders of Kieff are retreating now, and seem incapable of offering resistance. On the right bank of the Dnieper the Ukrainian authority is being established.

The Matin, says a Reuter message, dated Paris, Friday, prints from Rome an interview with M. Patek, the Polish Minister for Foreign Affairs. He said:—At the time the Bolshevists were asking for an armistice they were preparing to invade us. Proof of this is afforded by the fact that 160 locomotives and 2,000 guns, accumulated in front of our principal position, were captured at our first advance.

Reuter learns that on Sunday night seven Zeppelins appeared over Warsaw, going east. The Poles consider this a breach of the Peace Treaty. It is believed that the Zeppelins were carrying German Staff officers to the Bolshevik front, to re-organise the Red Army after the defeats it has lately sustained.

The American Ambassador notified the appointment of Mr. Walter Hides, Director-General of American Railways, as arbitrator for the distribution of river tonnage, in conformity with the Treaties of Versailles and St. Germain.

ALLEGED BIGAMY.

AN EXTRAORDINARY STORY.

Giving evidence on his own behalf at Totnes yesterday in answer to a charge of bigamously marrying Edith Elizabeth Hill, Wilfred Reginald Sinclair Hayes, lieutenant in the Royal Navy, who said he was not guilty, told a remarkable story. He declared that Edith Elizabeth Hill was his proper wife, and that Lilian Hayes, whom he is alleged to have married previously, was his brother's wife. His brother was fifteen or sixteen months his senior, and at the age of six was sent to relatives at Larne, owing to the difficulty his people had had to distinguish between them. The only marks of difference were that the accused had a scar on the left temple, and a somewhat crooked left arm. He was educated at Belfast, and subsequently joined the Navy. While at Plymouth in 1910 he met Miss Phillips, and they became engaged towards the end of 1912. Shortly afterwards he met his brother, whom he had not seen since 1908. At the end of 1913 Miss Phillips wrote to him asking for her freedom, and returning the engagement ring. In March, 1915, he met her again. The following day he saw his brother, to whom he gave the key of his locker at the Drake Institute, where he had his plain clothes. He told him that he had to meet Miss Phillips (Mrs. Lilian Hayes) two days later, and that he could take his place, as he (accused) wanted to go to Ireland on leave. In the second week in May he met his brother, who explained that he had taken accused's place, and married Miss Phillips. In the following December he again saw his brother, and agreed to take his place as Miss Phillips' husband. That was the last time he saw his brother. In cross-examination, the accused admitted his father was a farm labourer, and his parents were still alive.

The magistrates found that there was a prima facie case for committal for trial, and the accused was allowed bail.

ROTARY CLUBS' CONFERENCE.

An enthusiastic reception was given by the British Rotary Clubs at Harrogate yesterday to two American Rotarians. In a discussion on "Jobs for Demobs," Major Hampton Rich, New Orleans, said that the sooner they got the soldier back into his groove the sooner would they contribute to the pacification of the world. The conference also discussed applications of rotary service to civic and social affairs, Mr. Arden, of Calgary, describing rotary as the religion without a creed.

"ELECTIONEERING" IN WESTMEATH.

Our Athlone Correspondent says that a farmer, living in South Westmeath, was taken out of his house at midnight, placed on his knees by twelve masked and armed men, and put on his oath to withdraw his candidature for the District Council, and make a public declaration by printed poster of his resignation in favour of the Sinn Fein candidate. The required notice of withdrawal has been published.

THE BALLYBRACK TRAGEDY.

CORONER'S INQUIRY.

VERDICT OF MURDER.

Yesterday afternoon, Dr. C. F. Judd, J.P., Coroner for South County Dublin, held an inquest at Killiney concerning the death of William James McCabe, head gardener to the Right Hon. Laurence Waldron, P.C., Marino, Killiney. The deceased man was shot dead on the roadway shortly after 10 p.m. on Wednesday, the night when the police barracks at Ballybrack were burned down by a number of armed and masked men.

Mr. W. O. Holmes (instructed by the Chief Crown Solicitor) represented the authorities. The Right Hon. L. Waldron was present.

Mr. Robert McCabe, father of the deceased man, was called. The old man, on being asked had he viewed the body, replied—"No, I could not. I know it's him. I could not look at him, because it might mean another death." He was excused by the Coroner.

Joseph Kyle stated that he lived at Strathmore Lodge, and was in the employment of Mr. Brumley. McCabe visited his house at about a quarter to 10 o'clock on Wednesday night. It was a friendly call. When he left the witness went to the gate and locked it. He had returned to the steps of his house when he heard shots. He could not say how many shots. He went back and got up on his wall, and, looking over, saw a body lying on the road about 55 yards away. It was McCabe. His head was covered with blood. I lifted up his head by putting his arm under it, and shouted three times "Mr. McCabe," but got no answer. The witness then ran back and called his wife. As he got over the wall he saw in the opposite direction two men running past the lamp-post towards the Vico road. He knew of no enmity towards the deceased man in the neighbourhood.

In reply to Mr. William Coyne, a juror, the witness said that it was a gloomy night. He could give no description of the two men's appearance except that one wore a long dustcoat.

Mrs. Kyle, wife of the last witness, gave corroborative evidence as to McCabe's visit. She heard four or five shots. She heard footsteps passing the lodge going down towards Vico road, and she saw two figures pass the gate. She could not describe them, as the trees made it difficult to see.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE.

Dr. Joshua Pim, who made a post-mortem examination, stated:—On arriving at the scene he found the deceased man lying on his back on the roadside. He was dead. On making a post-mortem examination he found the following injuries:—On the right side of the head in front was a penetrating wound of the scalp, about one-fifth of an inch in diameter. The bone beneath the wound was uninjured. On the right side of the chest were three penetrating wounds, about one-fifth of an inch in circumference—one corresponding to the spine between the second and third ribs in the post axillary space, and penetrating the apex of the right lung; the second corresponding to the space between the fourth and fifth ribs, and penetrating the right lung; and the third lower down and more posterior. Death was due to shock and hemorrhage, resulting from a bullet wound. He found a bullet in the clothing. He thought that it might be a revolver bullet.

Henry Patrick Gallagher, Upper Dargle road, Bray, stated that on Wednesday night he was sitting on a seat opposite Strathmore Lodge with Miss McAdam, when two men came down the road at about 9.55 p.m., and one of them came over and said to him that he was "very sorry to discommode" them, but that they had better go down the road. They went, and the men remained there. The man was wearing a mask. He did not look towards the other man.

Miss Ellen McAdam, Ashton, Killiney, corroborated the previous witness. The masked man told them to go back the way that they came. They had come from the station, and they had been there for three minutes. The man wore a mask and had a light coat. He had in his hand something that she took to be a revolver. The men came down the Strathmore road.

Mrs. Hurst, wife of Sergeant Hurst, who was living in Ballybrack Barracks up to the time of its destruction on Wednesday night, said that a party of men came at about ten minutes to ten, moved her out of the barracks, and then set fire to it. All were armed—some with guns, and some had masks.

In reply to a juror, the witness said that the men said that they were very sorry, but their orders were to burn down the barracks.

Mr. Holmes said that the only possible explanation that could be given was that the man in the mask went out in connection with the burning of the police barracks, and gave some order that McCabe either did not hear or did not carry out, and as a result he was killed. There could be only one verdict, and that was a verdict of murder.

THE VERDICT.

The jury, after an absence of twenty minutes, returned the following verdict:—"That deceased, William J. McCabe, died from the effects of shock and hemorrhage, following revolver shots wilfully administered; and we find a verdict of murder against some person or persons unknown; and we tender our heartfelt sympathy to the father, sisters, and brother of the deceased, and we deplore the untimely end of one so universally respected in the neighbourhood."

The Coroner and Head Constable Colbert, on behalf of the police, also tendered sympathy to the deceased man's relatives.

The funeral will take place from Marino Lodge, Killiney, this morning at 10.30 to Kingsbridge Station, en route for Sallins.

DERRY SHOOTING AFFAIR.

DISTRICT INSPECTOR AND POLICE MURDERS.

At a Special Court in Derry yesterday, before Alderman Alex. Anderson, four ex-soldiers named Charles O'Neill, 36 Fahan street; James Moore, 2 St. Columb's Wells; Joseph McCann, Walker's square; and John Burke, 23 Fahan street, were charged, that they, and each of them, did, on the night of the 1st May, fire a revolver shot at Constable Henley, with intent to kill, and did wound him, and that on the same night that they fired two revolver shots at Constable Richard McLaughlin with intent to kill.

Replying to solicitors for the defence, Detective Sergeant Gleeson said that Constable Henley was still in hospital, but he hoped that he would be able to attend the court in a week.

Resisting an application that the prisoners be allowed out on bail, District Inspector McDonogh stated that on the first of this month two policemen were walking down Bishop street on duty, protecting the public, when a pack of blackguards came to the corner of Long Tower street and fired a shot, wounding one of the constables. It was not the fault of the man who fired that the constable was not killed. Shortly after that he (District Inspector McDonogh) brought a party of police to the place to investigate the matter, and one of the prisoners, O'Neill, feigned drunkenness in Long Tower street. He was in his shirt and trousers, and challenged the police to come down and fight him. When the police did go down he ran away like a hare, having led the police into a trap. Burke was seen standing behind a lamp-post and fired two shots, which struck Constable McLaughlin on the breast. If Burke served his country for a thousand years that would not justify him shooting policemen. There was some law in the land yet. Some people gloried in the shooting of policemen, but it was murder all the same. The other two prisoners were in company with Burke and O'Neill.

The solicitors protested against this statement, and Mr. Tracy remarked that if the District Inspector could give any evidence that Moore was in company with the others he would withdraw his application for bail.

District Inspector McDonogh—I refuse to give any evidence at the present stage. If I give evidence at the present stage it would shut up the channel of information. I have civilian evidence, but they are afraid to come into court—people who told us that they saw the shots being fired, and saw the revolver that shot the police in the man's hand. These people, however, are afraid to come into court. If there is any justice in the land it is of less importance to have these men in jail awaiting a fair trial than to have policemen on the street open to the danger of having their heads blown off. It is no hardship to keep these men in jail for a week, but it is a terrible hardship for policemen to be shot—shot by Irishmen, by assassins, although these policemen are better Irishmen than ever these assassins were. At the present time there are people who gloried in policemen being shot, but it is murder all the same. The life of one policeman is worth the lives of a cart-load of assassins.

Mr. Robb, solicitor, said that no respectable man could justify the shooting at policemen. He strongly reprobated it, but the fact that policemen were shot did not justify the District Inspector in levelling such charges against the prisoners.

Mr. Tracey, solicitor, said that, as a Catholic and Nationalist, he strongly disapproved of the shooting of policemen. His client Moore joined the Army at the age of 17, and served throughout the war. He had a much better war record than the Lord Chancellor of England.

The prisoners were remanded in custody. At the conclusion of the Court there was an angry scene, one of the men shouting something about the Irish Republican Army. Friends of the prisoners asked that the informers be produced, while someone shouted "they should be shot."

IRISH RAILWAY CLERKS AND STATION MASTERS.

The revised classification of Irish stationmasters and clerks has now been submitted, and is being placed before the Executive Committee of the Railway Clerks' Association sitting at Scarborough, where the annual conference of the Association will be held daily during next week.

PARLIAMENT.

THE PLUMAGE BILL.

REPRESENTATION OF THE PEOPLE.

TRAINING OF THE BLIND.

In the House of Commons yesterday, the Speaker took the chair at noon.

The Importation of Plumage (Prohibition) Bill, which was debated a fortnight ago, the debate being then adjourned, was down again for second reading.

No one rose to resume the discussion, and the second reading was carried by 61 votes to 8, the result being received with cheers.

Colonel Archer Shee moved that the bill be referred to a Select Committee, but this was rejected by 62 votes to 10.

The Representation of the People (No. 2) Bill was considered on report, and read a third time.

Dr. Addison moved the second reading of the Representation of the People (No. 3) Bill, which, he said, abolished the interval between the polling and the counting of the votes at Parliamentary elections. It also extends the right to vote by proxy to all absent voters at sea or outside the United Kingdom. It extends the maximum period between the receipt of the writ and the nomination day at by-elections in boroughs, and the minimum period between the nomination and the poll at by-elections in both counties and boroughs.

The bill was read a second time.

The Savings Bank Bill, as amended in Standing Committee, was considered on report, and read a third time.

HARBOURS, DOCKS, AND PIERS.

On the motion for the second reading of the Harbours, Docks and Piers (Temporary Increase of Charges) Bill,

Major Barnes moved the rejection of the bill on the ground that it discriminated between public and private undertakings, to the disadvantage of the former, and contemplated increasing the pre-war return on the pre-war capital of private undertakings, so increasing their capital value, and the cost of their acquisition by public authorities.

The amendment was rejected, and the bill was read a second time.

Dr. Addison moved the second reading of the Blind Persons Bill, which, he said, was introduced to fulfil a pledge given some time ago on a private member's bill. The bill was based on a survey that had been made of the existing authorities and opportunities for dealing with the blind. One of its main proposals was that blind persons should be given an opportunity of learning some trade, so as to assist in their own maintenance. It was intended to permit the grouping of local authorities in order to provide the necessary workshops, hostels, and training centres, and the State would make a contribution to their cost. It was also proposed that the conditions relating to old age pensions should be made applicable to blind persons down to the age of fifty years, there being a large number of blind people who were past the age at which they could be trained to regular employment.

The bill was read a second time.

The House rose at 4.38 p.m.

IRISH COAL SHORTAGE.

OFFICIAL FACTS AND FIGURES.

A meeting of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce Coal Committee was held yesterday, Mr. John Good, D.L., President, in the chair.

The following letter was received from the Right Hon. Sir Hamar Greenwood, Bart., P.C., M.P., Chief Secretary for Ireland, in reply to representations made to him in connection with the supply of coal to Ireland:—

"11th May, 1920.

"DEAR MR. GOOD,—I have been in continuous communication with the Coal Controller and the Ministry of Shipping since I received your wire of the 30th ultimo, with a view to seeing how I might be able to help you. I understand from the Coal Controller that the difficulty is one of shipping, and I accordingly made special representations to the Shipping Controller, before whom I placed the special Irish circumstances. I have now received a reply from him, with which he sends me the accompanying statement showing the coal shipments to Ireland for each of the last thirteen months, and he points out that the total shipments for the month of March last show a very considerable increase.

"The Shipping Controller holds very strongly that it is most undesirable to continue any detailed control over the ships available for Ireland at the present time, as he is satisfied that if merchants will revert to the ordinary system of chartering on the open market they will secure sufficient tonnage out of the amount available for the United Kingdom coasting trade to carry the quantity of coal to Ireland which the Coal Controller can allocate, and which can be shipped under present conditions at the loading ports. He, at the same time, explains that at the end of February he started to direct extra ships into the Irish trade. Further, he arranged that the ships already in the Irish trade and those specially directed (in common with other ships trading to United Kingdom destinations) should be given priority of berth in South Wales and on the North-East Coast over ships trading to the Continent, etc.

"The priority of berth is intended, of course, to secure that more coal is carried in the same number of ships, since they perform their voyages quicker. The Shipping Controller points out that the effect of these two operations is shown in the March figure, and as the special direction continued until the end of April, he has no reason to think that the total coal shipments for April to Ireland will be less than those for March. At the end of April he took off the special direction for the Irish ships, and also for all other ships engaged in the United Kingdom coasting trade, but he is retaining the priority arrangements.

"At present I regret that it is not possible for me to resist the decision of the Shipping Controller, who is the responsible authority, but if, after the present arrangements have been in force for a reasonable time, the situation demands reconsideration, I will then be happy to take up the matter again for you.—Yours faithfully,

"(Signed) HAMAR GREENWOOD."

The Committee, having carefully considered Sir Hamar Greenwood's letter, decided to send the following reply:—

"May 14th, 1920.

"DEAR SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD,—Your letter of the 11th inst. was before the Coal Committee to-day. The Shipping Controller has informed you that he anticipated that the coal shipments to Ireland for April would be equal to the March shipments. The facts are as follows:—

Coal imports for March—444,436 tons.
Coal imports for April—370,075 tons.

From the above figures you will see that there is a falling off of nearly 75,000 tons in the April shipments. These figures are taken from returns sent to me by Mr. Morrison, the Irish Coal Controller.

With regard to steamers loading for Ireland having priority, here again we must challenge the statement of the Shipping Controller. At this moment we understand that a steamer is lying in a South Wales port awaiting a cargo for Ireland for which priority has been refused, and this is not an isolated case. It is commonly reported that the harbour authorities at certain South Wales ports have refused to recognise the priority orders of the Shipping Controller. We shall be glad to give you the facts if you desire them.—Yours faithfully, (Signed) JOHN GOOD, President.

MURDER OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

At the Dublin City Sessions yesterday, the Right Hon. the Recorder referred to the cases in which claims for compensation had been made on behalf of the relatives of Mr. Redmond, Assistant Commissioner, Dublin Metropolitan Police, and Mr. Alan Bell, R.M., the former of whom was murdered in Harcourt street and the latter at Ballsbridge. The Recorder said that he would not give his decision until the judgment of the Court of Appeal had been given dealing with similar points. The Court of Appeal judgment was listed for Monday.

VOLUNTEERS OFFER TO ACT AS POLICEMEN.

The Returning Officer for Birr (No. 1) Council, who was informed that the police will not be available for the coming Council elections, has received an offer from the Irish Volunteers to supply men to keep order at the polling booths and guard the ballot boxes.

On the arrival of the English mails yesterday morning at Dungarvan Post Office the office was raided by eight masked men, who seized the mail bags, and took out all official letters, which they kept, and then left the place very quickly.

Our Templemore Correspondent states that on Thursday afternoon Mr. Dickie, Head Inspector of National Schools, was stopped on the public road by a party of six armed and masked men at Castleiney, three miles from Templemore. His papers were searched, and some of them were taken from him. No violence, however, was used.

The body of Sergeant Garvey, R.I.C., who was shot in Cork on last Tuesday, was taken yesterday from that city to Aghadoe, near Killarney. The cortège included several hundred of the Cork City Police, and two companies of the Hants and Oxford and Bucks Regiments and their bands.

A Press Association telegram says:—The Rev. W. Morris, Rector of Cloone, has lodged a claim for damage done to the rectory furniture. At Clooncumber a Protestant church has been burned. The two last-mentioned outrages have been condemned by the Sinn Fein Organisation.

THE PREMIERS MEET.

FRENCH DELEGATES ARRIVE AT FOLKESTONE.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE SPA CONFERENCE.

The Special Correspondent of the Press Association at Hythe telegraphed last evening:—Mr. Lloyd George and other Allied statesmen concerned in the post-war deliberations discovered long ago that formal exchange of Notes, however necessary, and even inevitable in some cases, bore no comparison in the matter of celerity and convenience to personal conversations, and that is why there have been meetings in Paris, London, and San Remo. The approach of the resumed Conference at Spa rendered a further informal preliminary Conference desirable, and as the British Premier had not sufficiently recovered to meet M. Millerand, either in Paris or London, the French Premier arranged to cross the Channel to Folkestone and have a private chat with Mr. Lloyd George at the Kentish seat of his private secretary, Sir Philip Sassoon.

Mainly, the conversations are to be between the two Premiers, but the French Financial Minister, M. Marcel, accompanied his chief, and so Mr. Chamberlain also went to Lympne for any financial conversations which may be necessary. These, with Sir Maurice Hankey and other members of the Secretaries' staff (about eight persons in all), are the guests of Sir Philip Sassoon at Lympne.

Shortly after seven o'clock in the evening Mr. Chamberlain, Sir Philip Sassoon, Mr. Philip Kerry, one of the Premier's private secretaries, and Mr. Conway Davies, representing the Government Hospitality Committee, arrived at Folkestone Harbour Station to greet the French visitors on behalf of the Premier, and were joined by the Mayor of Folkestone. Half an hour later the French destroyer L'Ailette slipped alongside the landing stage. The travellers were grouped upon the upper deck. They included M. Millerand, with the Earl of Derby, British Ambassador in Paris, standing beside him; M. François Marcel, M. Ader, M. Carteron, Chief of Cabinet to the Premier; M. Dewar, Chief of Cabinet to M. Marcel, and M. Kammeralink, the interpreter. In a few moments the French bluejackets were saluting the Premier as he stepped over the side, and the informal greetings were rapidly exchanged. The Mayor, wearing the colours of the two nations welcomed the French Premier cordially in the name of the people of Folkestone. The parties entered the waiting motor cars, and drove through beflagged streets and past cheering crowds on their way to Lympne. Lord Derby accompanied them.

The Press representatives were assured that no business would be attempted until to-day, and that then the chief subject of discussion would be the reparation to be demanded from Germany. It is practically certain, though not yet definite, that a postponement of the Spa Conference to about the third week in June will be decided upon at the Conference.

As a preliminary to the Conference, Mr. Churchill was summoned to Lympne, and had a long interview with the Premier.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL FOR CONSUMPTION.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the supporters of the Royal National Hospital for Consumption for Ireland was held yesterday afternoon in Dublin, Major E. H. C. Wellesley, J.P., Chairman, presiding.

The annual report of the Board of Governors stated that, notwithstanding depressing circumstances, the work of the hospital had been carried on with unflagging zeal, with satisfactory results which amply justified the confidence increasingly shown by the public in the hospital and the special medical treatment that it offered.

The medical report again emphasised the great importance of sending for treatment at the earliest possible moment persons affected by the disease. It was for treatment of persons suffering from consumption in its early stages that the hospital was originally founded, and to such cases they were, in strictness, by their constitution, limited. From such early treatment the best results could undoubtedly be obtained; and the Board emphatically endorsed the recommendation of the medical staff in this direction. It must be remembered, however, that advanced and incurable cases, besides having a claim to individual assistance, were a serious menace to the health of the community. This was a danger to which, doubtless, the public health authorities were directing their attention; and in any steps which the Government might take in this matter the Board were prepared, and had signified their willingness, to offer their cordial co-operation. As concerned the question of finance, the Board regarded the present financial position with the gravest concern. The cost of maintenance in every department had increased from £7,165 in 1914 to £9,463 in 1918, and the figures for 1919 were still more disquieting. As to income, that it had not shown a serious diminution was due partly to the generosity of many friends, who had kindly increased their subscriptions, and the Board most gratefully acknowledged, and partly to the increased rates which the Board had been compelled most reluctantly to charge for all classes of patients. Still, notwithstanding the utmost economy in expenditure, the accounts have shown each year an increasing deficit, resulting at the end of 1919 in an overdraft at the bank of £6,063.

The Secretary read letters of apology from Mr. Wellington Darley and Mr. Charles Jacob.

The Chairman, in proposing the adoption of the report, expressed the sorrow of those present at the absence of their Hon. Secretary, Mr. Orpen, through illness. It was, perhaps, the only occasion on which he had been unable to attend the general meeting since the foundation of the hospital. They were very fortunate in their officers, Mr. Dawson and Miss Leech. The work of the office was carried out most efficiently by them. They were all glad to have Dr. Hanan back with them after his naval service. The post of Resident Medical Officer was now vacant owing to the resignation of Dr. Kennedy, to whom their best thanks were due for his zealous and good work during the years of war. Dr. Crofton having resigned as Visiting Physician, had now been appointed Consulting Physician and a member of the Board. The most serious part of the report dealt with the financial position. Their accounts each year showed an increasing deficit. The price of all provisions and of coal was increasing so enormously that unless they could enlist new support for their hospital they would be in a very serious position. So far as he could see, the only hope was for the Government to step in and assume control, at any rate, financially.

Mr. R. Caulfeild Orpen seconded the adoption of the report, which was unanimously adopted.

On the motion of Mr. G. B. Symes, seconded by Dr. W. M. Crofton, the retiring Governors were re-elected, and Messrs. Stokes, Bros., and Pim were re-appointed auditors.

Dr. Crofton, in proposing a vote of thanks to the staff for the efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties, referred to the great effects derived from the sub-cutaneous test of tuberculine inoculation. Cases diagnosed in this way were curable, and a tuberculosis resistant generation could be established.

Mr. J. E. Gabbett seconded the motion, which was adopted.

On the motion of Mr. G. B. Symes, seconded by Dr. Crofton, a vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman, who, in acknowledging the compliment, paid tribute to the services rendered to the institution by Miss Leech and Messrs. J. R. Orpen, Hon. Secretary; A. P. Dawson, Secretary, and R. Caulfeild Orpen.

AIRMEN HONOURED.

It is announced in the London Gazette that the King has given orders for the appointment of Lieutenant-Colonel Hesperus Andrias van Ryneveld, late Royal Air Force, and Flight Lieutenant Christopher Joseph Quintin Brand, Royal Air Force, to be Knights Commanders of the Order of the British Empire, in recognition of valuable services rendered to aviation by the successful flight from England to Cape Town. His Majesty has also awarded the Air Force Medal to Flight Sergeant Ernest Frank Newman and to Mr. Frank William Sheratt, engineer, of Messrs. Rolls Royce, Ltd., in recognition of their valuable services on the same occasion.

THE LAND AGITATION.

INTIMIDATION IN COUNTY ROSCOMMON.

Our Boyle Correspondent states that, for their connection with some grazing land in the County Roscommon, a farmer and his two sons were forcibly taken from their beds on Wednesday night, and, almost naked, were compelled by a party of disguised men to walk about one mile to an eleven months' grazing farm and remove their cattle. A drenching rain was falling, and there were fusillades of rifle and revolver shots. The three men were put on their knees on the roadside and threatened with the severest penalty if they continued to put cattle on the land.

MILITARY PROTECTING GRAZING FARMS.

Military in large numbers, says our Carrick-on-Shannon Correspondent, are at present protecting the farm of Sir Gilbert King, Bart., Charlestown, Drumsna, and also that of Mr. J. Nolan, at Scregg, Carrick-on-Shannon, in the County Roscommon, off which cattle were recently driven.

An objection was successfully lodged at Devon County Show yesterday against the Prince of Wales's first prize bull being awarded the Mercury Cup for the best Devon bull on the ground that His Royal Highness was not a member of the Devon Farmers' Union. The cup was awarded to Messrs. J. Cowling and Sons.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

BISHOP OF ROSS'S VIEWS.

ANARCHY AND PARTITION.

ADVICE TO ULSTER.

At the meeting of the Committee of Agriculture in Leinster House, Dublin, yesterday, Mr. Hugh T. Barrie, M.P., Vice-President, in the chair,

The Most Rev. Dr. Kelly, Roman Catholic Bishop of Ross, moved:—"To call attention to the existing condition of affairs in this country from the social and economic standpoint." The Bishop said that he wished to bring before them some considerations which were outside the ordinary subjects of discussion at the Council, but yet which, in the extraordinary circumstances of the time, were well within its sphere of concern. He thought, indeed, that the Council would render a service to agriculture and to the country by taking them into account. The feeling of that Council was, he presumed, that the present condition of this country was unsatisfactory. He need not inquire into the causes, nor attempt to apportion the blame. For fourteen years he had been a hopeful, and, he trusted, not unprogressive, member of the Council. When the principal nations of Europe engaged in war the conviction immediately seized his mind that the period of progress and development was for the time being at an end, and that all the wise and stable elements in the population should combine to conserve what had been achieved and to save their institutions from decay and ruin. Three weeks after the outbreak of the war, at a special meeting of that Council, their Chairman and himself took a prominent part. He (the speaker) raised the alarm that sea-borne traffic would not be safe, and that their foodships might be sunk, though at that time he had only the dimmest idea of the infernal power of the submarine. In March, 1915, on his suggestion, the Agricultural Board issued a warning to the country of the financial disturbances arising from a great war. In July of that year a Committee on Food Production held its sessions. Many members of that Committee were present that day, and they would, perhaps, remember that he frequently insisted that after the war the existing state of things would be completely changed. During the Irish Convention his desire was to have the Irish question settled during the war, and thus to save Ireland from what he used to call the post-war maelstrom of European confusion. Well, they were now immersed in that maelstrom, and were like Virgil's "Rari nantes in gurgite vasto." When he fell ill he wrote to the Convention appealing for agreement, and as that letter was public property he might quote a sentence from it: "The risk which appals me is that we should fail to reach any settlement, and that our poor country should again go out into the wilderness—a wilderness unexplored and unexplorable by my vision—in the unknown world after the war, in which none of the paths and lights and signs of the past can be a guide."

SOCIAL REVOLUTION.

It was now obvious that the paths of the past were obliterated and its lights extinguished, not only in Cork and Dublin, but also, and even more so, in Belfast. Were the new paths leading them to ordered liberty or to chaos? Would the new lights guide the ship safely into port or run her on the rocks? The Council should consider if the movement going on around them was political to improve the government of Ireland, as they had been accustomed to all their lives; or if it was not rather drifting into social revolution, which broke up the institutions of a country, its methods of work and employment, its ownership of property, and aimed at evolving a new form of society. Such social revolutions had been tried in the course of history; they had produced great sufferings, and ended in failure. Many of their fellow-countrymen were professed Republicans. The word "Republic"—and this was an important point—had, in their use of it, two distinct meanings. Some meant by Republic such a form of government as existed in the United States, France, or Switzerland. A Republic in that sense—such a Republic was a perfectly legitimate form of government if it could be peacefully obtained and efficiently maintained. His present purpose did not require the discussion of these two conditions. Amongst a well-informed people the government which best promoted ordered liberty and happiness was a democracy in which all classes of the people had due weight through their elected representatives. Whether the head of that democracy and the symbol of its authority was a president, a king, or an emperor was a matter of little moment. But by Republic many Irishmen meant a Workers' Republic, and they defined the workers as the proletariat. There they had a totally different system. The workers—or rather one class of worker, for a farmer was a worker—proposed to take over all the sources of production in the country to work and manage them and to run the government as well. That was the denial of democracy. It was government by a class; democracy was government by all the classes. Government by a class was bad government. The tyranny of an oligarchy was bad; the tyranny of a multitude was worse.

OWNERSHIP OF PROPERTY.

Again, to take over the sources of production was not legitimate. The possessors and owners would resist, and there would be a fierce struggle. If some were dispossessed they would renew the struggle to recover their property. The path of revolution had always been strewn with bloodshed, misery, and ruin. There were few countries in the world, if any, in which the ownership of property was now so widely diffused as in Ireland, and, therefore, in which the proportion of proletariat to owners was so small. There were in Ireland 910,000 families. Of these, 552,000 were occupiers of land. All of them had a substantial interest in their land, and most of them were owners in fee. More than 400,000 of these families were farmers who derived their subsistence from their farms. Among the 368,000 families who had no landed interest were included the large array of owners of houses, shops, workshops, factories, and various other forms of property. In Great Britain the state of things was quite different. In that larger island there were only 279,466 farmers and graziers, embracing a population of not more than a million and a half out of forty millions. Over thirty millions of them subsisted on daily wages, few owned their houses or other property, and they were truly a proletariat.

"CRIMINAL ANARCHY."

Hence in Ireland there was little room for a social revolution. As they knew the Irishman, he would cling with a grim determination to his farm, shop, and workshop. But forewarned was forearmed. And if the owners realised that the programme of the workers' Republic was to abolish individual ownership, and if they set their faces grimly against that change, they would avert great evils from themselves and their country. Seven years ago there was great commotion in Dublin, and for some time before and after in other parts of Ireland. Doctrines were promulgated from the platform that shocked the whole country. These doctrines had since been steadily percolating through Ireland. One of the leaders of that movement had recently been on his trial in the United States, the land of liberty; he had been found guilty of criminal anarchy and sentenced to five years' imprisonment, with hard labour. What was criminal anarchy in America was here a matter for admiration and imitation. And yet many quiet and good people took no alarm from red flags and red lights. By the Acts of 1898 and 1899 the Irish people and their elected representatives got control and management of their local government, their county and city affairs, their agriculture and fisheries, their technical education, their poor and sick. To interrupt these services would be a voluntary surrender of a valuable part of Irish independence and a grave injury to the economic life and prosperity of the country. Let all of them, therefore, use whatever influence they could command to save the social and economic life of the country.

A WORD TO ULSTER.

If it were not unparliamentary, he would fain say a word to their Ulster friends. This was an extraordinary crisis, and, perhaps, as a very exceptional matter, he might be indulged. The great conservative force in Ireland was the multitude of peasant owners and their families and friends. That factor in every country in the world where it existed had always been the strongest stabilising and protective influence for property and order. If the Ulster Unionists retired behind the boundary of the six counties there would not be that preponderating proportion of the owning classes over the proletariat that existed in unpartitioned Ireland. The hope of excluding revolutionary ideas might not succeed. The world had got a greater shock than any time in a thousand years. The success of a policy for many years past was no guarantee of its success under world-shaken conditions. Besides, during the French Revolution (a comparatively tame event) Belfast was not immune from the contagion. Within the Ulster area he saw three strong minorities, able to give trouble—minorities made revolutions. As to trouble from without, the six-county boundary might prove a feeble barrier. It was worth consideration whether Ulster would not be safer if the stable and conservative elements of all Ireland combined to work a united country, and to make as one boundary the girdle of sea which would purify noxious vapours as they floated over from abroad. Ulster now accepted Home Rule for itself. If anyone had foretold that event in 1918, what would Ulster have thought of the prophecy? Events were rushing on. What would Ulster think in 1922?

A RALLYING CENTRE.

But his object in calling attention to that matter was to suggest that the constructive and progressive forces of the country would need at that moment to gather together and form some rallying centre to safeguard their economic life and interests and to save social order and society itself from lapsing into anarchy. That Council was the most representative statutory body in Ireland dealing with the whole country, and was in a special way representative of the basic industry by which the entire economic prosperity of the country rested, and he thought it was not stepping beyond its function in calling attention to the absolutely unprecedented state of public instability by which all economic as well as other interests were imperilled. (Applause.)

On the suggestion of Mr. Michael Dunne, it was decided unanimously that the address be printed and circulated, and the thanks of the Council were tendered to Most Rev. Dr. Kelly.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

POLISH VICTORIES.

Reuter's Warsaw Correspondent forwards the following report issued yesterday by the Polish General Staff:—In the Kieff sector the enemy is continuing to make desperate attacks, with the object of re-taking at any cost the places occupied by us on the east bank of the Dnieper. All the enemy's attacks have failed. Another report, issued on the fighting near Rzeszyca and the Dnieper, announces the complete defeat of the enemy. 400 Bolsheviks were drowned in the Dnieper after being defeated near Blibow. The Tenth Division was seized with panic, and put out of action.

POST OFFICE WORKERS' STRIKE POLICY.

PREPARING FOR A BIG STRUGGLE.

THE "RED FLAG" SUNG.

A full-dress debate took place at the resumed Conference of the Union of Post Office Workers, Morecambe, yesterday.

Mr. Bowen, on behalf of the Executive, moved:—"This Conference confirms the resolution of the Amalgamated Conference instituting a strike policy as a permanent plank in the programme of the Union, and resolves that a strike fund be instituted, the contribution to be 6d. per week per member; that a ballot of membership be taken forthwith, and that upon a majority of votes being recorded in favour the policy shall thereupon become operative, and that in order to ensure the success of a Post Office strike arrangements be entered into with other Trade Unions which might be implicated for concerted and common action."

Mr. Bowen said that a Union of 100,000 membership could not afford to remain in its present position. They intended to take their place with other Unions, and show that they meant business. (Cheers.)

Mr. W. B. Cheeseman, Assistant Secretary, said that circumstances had forced this question upon them. So far as their standing in the Trade Union world was concerned this policy was absolutely necessary if they were to maintain their position as a section of the Labour movement.

An amendment was moved by the Metropolitan Districts Branch to delete the clause relating to the raising of a strike fund.

Mr. Yeater, in supporting it, said that it was moral courage that they wanted. The Department would watch the strike fund diminishing, and time their blow accordingly. He hoped that when that Union linked up with the Triple Alliance it would be prepared to strike for the big things that really mattered. (Cheers.)

The amendment was defeated by an overwhelming majority.

Manchester moved an amendment that in the event of a Post Office strike, provision should be made for the maintenance of certain essential services.

Mr. O'Donnell (Manchester) said that they must maintain the necessary services in their own interests, and for the preservation of law and order. The nation was greater than any Trade Union. (Cheers.)

The Manchester amendment was defeated.

The Executive's motion on strike policy was carried almost unanimously, less than a dozen voting against.

A DUBLIN MESSAGE.

During the Conference Mr. Nally, of Ireland, read the following telegram from the Dublin Branch of the Association of Irish Post Office Clerks:—"Newspapers report your acceptance of 5s. 6d. increase. Postmaster-General cannot dismiss the whole service. Why let him starve it? A brave step now will never be regretted. Weakness to-day means weeping to-morrow. Courage maketh the man. Ireland with you in strong action, and will lead if necessary. It was thought here that Britons never would be slaves." (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Nally said that there was no reason to be timid about a strike policy.

The delegates later rose, and sang "The Red Flag."

REPORTED OFFER TO SINN FEIN.

"A Wayfarer," in this week's Nation, writes: "I believe that tenders, of which one, at least, was semi-official, have been made to Sinn Fein, and have been rejected. Their basis was that the six counties must remain a fixed part of the Irish Bill (the Carson veto), but for the rest of the country there might be as much Home Rule as was compatible with Ireland remaining in the Empire."

AUSTRALIA AND SINN FEIN.

An Exchange Company's message, dated Melbourne, Thursday, says:—In the House of Representatives, Mr. Kerby, a Ministerialist member, urged the Government to deport two Sinn Fein priests who arrived on the steamship Orsova yesterday, intending to become teachers at the Xavier College. The Government promised that inquiries should be made regarding the alleged disloyal conduct of these men during the voyage.

MR. J. H. THOMAS AND THE FUTURE OF THE RAILWAYS.

For the first time in the history of railway trade unionism leaders of the National Union attended the annual conference of the Locomotive Engineers' and Firemen's Society, which was held at Leeds yesterday.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., said that the only alternative to nationalisation was a zone system dividing the railways into geographical areas. No one in any sphere of public life dare suggest that the railways should go back to pre-war conditions. Whatever the system might ultimately be, the railwaymen intended to have a voice in the things that affected their daily life. Criticising the statement that the railways were being worked at a loss, he declared that they had never been given credit for their contribution in the first three years of the war, and that during that period they were worked at a profit. They were not prepared to allow the railwaymen to be sweated in order to provide cheap facilities for the travelling public, and he recognised that the railways ought to be self-supporting. In conclusion, Mr. Thomas dwelt on the effect on the cost of living of every wage demand, and declared that if they were honest to themselves and really capable of showing themselves fit to govern, they should not continue to be parties to that vicious system that they knew was wrong and stood condemned. He wanted the Labour movement to tackle the question in an entirely different way.

BUTTER RATIONING TO STOP.

The Ministry of Food announce that, in view of the large increase in the supplies of British and Irish butter, and the fall in the price of these varieties, the rationing of Government butter will cease as from Sunday, May 30th next. The Ministry will, however, still continue to purchase all supplies of imported butter and distribute them through the normal trade channels at fixed maximum prices. Private import of butter to the United Kingdom is still prohibited, as the outlook for supplies of imported butter is not such as would justify complete decontrol.

STRIKE OF TEACHERS.

The strike of teachers connected with the Christian Brothers' schools continued yesterday, and picketing took place outside some of the city schools, leaflets being distributed to people passing by.

RAILWAY SHOPMEN'S WAGES.

The Industrial Court, London, has issued its award in connection with the rates of wages of vehicle builders in railway shops. The Irish companies concerned were the Dublin and South-Eastern, the Great Southern and Western, and the Midland Great Western. Questions arising out of a decision of 1st April were put forward by the National Union of Vehicle Workers. By that decision the rates were fixed as follows:—Coach bodymakers, £3 17s. a week; coach painters, £3 15s.; coach trimmers, £3 15s.; vicemen, £3 10s. 3d.; coach fitters, £3 10s. 3d. It was stated in the award that it was not the intention of the court that the rates of wages specified in the decision of 1st April should consolidate the war advance and the 12½ per cent. on earnings. It was understood that the rates quoted were time-rates, inclusive of the war advance and bonus. In the rates mentioned the base rate was for boilermakers, £2 2s.; painters, £2 0s. 2d.; trimmers, £2 0s. 2d.; vicemen and fitters, £1 16s. In each case the war advance was £1 6s. 6d., and 12½ per cent. on earnings must be added. In cases in which the base rates of piece workers had been adjusted as a result of the court's decision, piece prices should also be adjusted in accordance with the custom obtaining in the establishments. The award did not apply to locomotive painters, as their case had not been brought before the court.

THE ITCH TO WRITE.

ART AND HUNGER.

(BY C. H. B.)

ON CHOOSING A PROFESSION.

When I had reached that immature age at which the future careers of their young hopefuls are discussed in terms of varying brilliance by their proud and affectionate parents, I early became aware that the profession of a journalist was not considered quite genteel in the very best circles. The newspaper office was not positively without the pale, like the vaudeville stage, or what was then known loosely, but significantly, as "trade." Journalists were even known to have been the recipients of a measure of political advancement which gave them some sort of an entrée among quite nice people. But these were exceptions. The workaday journalist might be respectable—in those days a witness in the courts who was not a gentleman was always referred to in the newspaper reports as a "respectable-looking man"—but he was not off the top shelf. The only person who was not either above or below his somewhat lonely station was the dentist, who was to the full-bloom doctor what the journalist was to the successful novelist.

That was a good many years ago, and the dentist has come up in the world, or the world has got down to the dentist—I do not know which. Yet, though super-journalists now electrify the House of Lords and win wars after the effete Services and the gelatinous politicians have all but lost them, there still adheres to the trade of ephemeral letters a certain suggestion of apologetic subservience. A conscious effort rather than an unconscious assumption of gentility is what is expected of it. There is, of course, a reason for all this. When I reached the tender years to which I have already referred, I had not the slightest ambition to be anything but an orchid-collector or a detective of international reputation. These picturesque callings one's parents, in their old-fashioned way, declined to consider seriously. There was the Bar—Uncle Percy was a solicitor and could be expected to help—or medicine or the diplomatic service. Or one could go into Uncle George's office in the city. And that was about all. (I do my parents the credit of saying that they never seriously contemplated foisting me on the theological services.) Literature, I was given to understand that one became a writer, if at all, by accident. One had to have something that was called rather scornfully the cacoethes scribendi—the itch to write. I did not have it, and was able to plead "not guilty," and proceeded to acquire, at great expense and with indifferent success, the rudiments of other professions. Later I became a very tolerable journalist in the approved way—that is, by accident.

STYLE.

But I never acquired the cacoethes scribendi. I can say honestly and with my hand on my heart that I never employed an hour in transferring the ardent ink to the virgin paper that I would not rather have spent in doing something else. The only author I know of who frankly confessed—or pretended—that the stuff flowed out of him willy-nilly was William Sharp ("Fiona McLeod"), who used to jump up in the middle of the night and scribble down the poetry that bubbled up inside him. The result did not justify the loss of sleep. Sharp could write fine prose—when he took the trouble. When he thought that he was capturing the first fine careless rapture and pouring the molten gold of poetry from the glowing crucible of inspiration he was mostly writing doggerel. One of the best writers of English whom I know was a youth who was at college with me, who excelled in sports, sang magnificently, defeated study, and thought that Marie Corelli was "it" in literature. The reason why he wrote well was that his vocabulary was extremely limited. He never used words like "adumbrate" and "incarnadine" and "phenomenon," because he did not know them. He called a spade a spade, because the possibility of its being an agricultural implement never occurred to him. He did well in his examinations; not because he knew much, but because he could not help being lucid about what he did know. Generally the examiners went out of the way to praise his style.

Such men do not become journalists (my friend was, and I dare say still is, a bank clerk). Byron talked about the "fatal facility of the octosyllabic metre." The journalist is the man who has the fatal facility of the instant word. If he is a bad journalist, he rejoices in his damnable fluency and makes confusion worse confounded in a bovine world already stung to the point of madness by the gadfly print. If he is a good journalist, he struggles—often with remarkable success—to inject some style into what is essentially a mechanical performance. But the fact remains that he is a man who is compelled to produce copiously and hastily what should be a rare essence, distilled sentence by limpid sentence in the austere environment of the National Library's reading room.

Yet the conscious stylist in literature is usually impossible and always irritating. When I was a boy I was made to learn "Rasselas," which I was assured contained the most sonorous prose ever written in the English language. To-day, I am happy to say, I cannot remember a line of the stuff, but I can still remember how Horace Smith in the "Rejected Addresses" made Dr. Johnson say "Parturient mountains have erstwhile produced muscipular abortions," which to me is "Rasselas" in a nutshell.

Johnson has not survived on account of "Rasselas," but because of his shrewd commonsense and because he once assaulted a publisher. The bad journalist has the cacoethes scribendi. The good journalist who seeks to write eloquently usually fails—fortunately—because he has not got the disease. The only way in which he really could improve his style would be to give up writing and go to be a sailor for six months—and that, of course, is what he cannot do. However, so long as writing is troublesome to him it is a sure sign that his English retains a certain effectiveness.

The best craftsman will become "precious" and pernickety unless the question of delivering the finished article on time is introduced. The man who has to lay down his chisel because it is one o'clock is more likely to catch and hold the fleeting vision at its loveliest than the man who can go tinkering along until he is satisfied or becomes bored. Once—when writing was merely a recreation to me—I decided to write a fine poem. It was a fine poem. There were only three hundred lines of it, and it took me fourteen months to write. But did the editors go wild about it? They did not. It still lingers in innocuous desuetude in my desk, and I still maintain that it is a fine poem and there is only one thing the matter with it—it takes fourteen months to read.

I continue to insist, though I have been scolded for saying it, that the germ of all new art must be looked for in the field of the strictly utilitarian. That is where the journalist gets his chance to enrich the language and earn an honourable position in the world of letters, and have the entrée into the salons of the quite nice wholesale provision-dealers' wives. The journalist must write, or should write, from a wholly utilitarian standpoint. To say the given thing in the shortest and most graphic way is his business—or should be. Language is an old bottle that must be made to carry many kinds of new wine. It is the journalist's business to see that neither the vintage nor the bottle loses bouquet or symmetry in the process. That is an honourable pursuit. True, it has produced some monstrous results, but has

THE CONNOISSEUR SPEAKS.

One half of me is all for havings,
The cunning, meretricious gauds
That your really artistic soul applauds.
Those Bartolozzis—superb engravings—
Satisfy certain aesthetic cravings;
And yonder pretty Dresden simperer
Played the deuce with a young man's savings
When I ran across her in 'eighty five;
And this blue Hawthorne—a Ming was Emperor
When it bloomed in the Hang Kow craftsman's hive.
(The silvery blossoms seem almost alive.)
Haronobu, a maker of swords,
Carved these netsuke; this vinaigrette
Sweetened Paris's rag-tag hordes
In the nose of the luckless Antoinette.

"Few combine the means and the taste!"
True; I grant; and the art that flings
In the lap of the world those beautiful things
Had lost its gaiety long ago,
Grown hollow-bellied and presbyter-faced,
Fanning the largesse of those who know
And have the precious counters to waste.

"Ah!" you say; "but what boots a copper
Of your crapulous, hole-in-corner spending
To the starving guild of the children of light
Who, wing they never so fair a flight,
Must keep one eye on the butcher's chopper,
And pay in dross when their wings want mending?
The price you paid for those 'Nymphs and Satyrs'
Of wine ne'er juggled a single swallow
Down the dusty throat of some thirsty fellow,
Who long since ceased to think of such matters."

True; but your logic's at fault; for ne'er
Did Art's frail aeroplane fairly launch
Into the delicate upper air
Of imagination when anchored to earth
By weight of meat in a well-filled paunch,
And smooth prosperity's alderman girth.
Your man of genius is like an oyster,
And yields no pearls till you scratch his maw
With Poverty's highly-inspiring claw.
Maecenas' money-bags never drew
To the abnegation of Art's dim cloister
A roistering one of the wastrel crew.

Let them starve, your children of light,
And the wine of beauty fly to their heads.
Fat fingers fumble the delicate threads
Of the wonderful web of the garment of dreams.
No weft of dawn and no woof of the night
Enters the loom, and the spirit takes flight,
And the pool is dark to the eye that gleams
With a trencherman's lust. Would I had starved
On a war-crazed daimio's wastings, and carved
Like Haronobu, or limned in colour
The sun-washed peace of yon "Windless River,"
Or caught the pose of this bronze "coal-heaver."
Would I then make moan for my stomach's dolour
Or smother my art in the snare of havings
And the pinguid ease of inherited savings?

But enough of that! This snuff-box, see,
Said to be Rousseau's: a delicate thing!
And here's the authentic signet ring
Of the Royalist, Falkland . . . . . .

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND.

OPENING OF THE GENERAL SYNOD.

On Monday evening, the 17th inst., at 8 o'clock, there will be the Service for the opening of the General Synod in St. Patrick's Cathedral, in which, in accordance with custom, the bishops will take part. The sermon will be preached by the Bishop of Kilmore. The Dean invites the clergy to robe and take part in the procession. Those who accept this invitation should be in the Lady Chapel, where all robe, not later than 7.45 p.m. Seats will be reserved for the robed clergy only.

On Tuesday next the meeting of the General Synod will be preceded by a celebration of the Holy Communion in Christ Church Cathedral at 10.30 a.m. The bishops will robe in their room in the Synod Hall, and the members of the Chapter of Christ Church and St. Patrick's in the Chapter House not later than 10.15 a.m.

The Archbishop of Dublin will preach on behalf of the Church Missionary Society in St. Andrew's Church, Dublin, to-morrow at the 11.30 Service, when also a tablet bearing the names of five members of the congregation who gave their lives for liberty and justice in the great war will be unveiled and dedicated. The special preacher at the Evening Service will be the Archdeacon of Glendalough.

At the 11.30 Service in the Magdalen Church, Dublin, to-morrow, the Rev. R. H. Murray, Litt.D., will speak on "Punishment in the World to Come," and at the 7 o'clock Service on "The Place of Emotion in Religion."

A sermon will be preached at to-morrow Evening's Service in St. Matthias's Church, Dublin, by the Rev. T. W. E. Drury, explaining the New Church Hymnal. The sermon will be illustrated by selected verses, showing different types of hymns sung by the choir. Mr. Drury was a member of the committee which compiled the Hymnal.

Special sermons will be preached in Rathmines Parish Church to-morrow. The preacher at the 10 and 11.30 a.m. Services will be the Bishop of Derry, who will plead for the Association for the Relief of Distressed Protestants. The collection at the 7 o'clock Evening Service will be on behalf of the Colonial and Continental Church Society, and the Special preacher will be the Bishop of Athabasca.

As may be seen in our advertisement columns to-day, the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Colonial and Continental Church Society on Monday next, at 3 p.m., will be Bishop Robins, of Athabasca. The Bishop will also preach to-morrow at Clontarf Parish Church at 11.30 a.m., and at Rathmines Parish Church at 7 p.m. The annual meeting will be held at the Engineers' Hall, 35 Dawson street, opposite the Mansion House, and not at the Gregg Hall, as on other years.

In our advertisement columns will be found the details of the anniversary arrangements for 1920 of the Irish Auxiliary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts. The new Secretary of the S.P.G., Bishop King, will visit Dublin. He was a Classical Scholar of Clare College, Cambridge, and a pupil of Bishop Lightfoot at Auckland Castle. He was ordained in 1884. In 1899 he was consecrated Bishop of Madagascar. The Rev. A. J. Harris-Rivett (lately Archdeacon of Brazil) comes with the reputation of a good speaker and an interesting story of work in Brazil. Bishop Azariah, the preacher in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Friday night, is the first native bishop in India. He will speak of the great problems which the Church has to face at the present moment.

BRITISH LABOUR DELEGATION AT PETROGRAD.

Reuter's Agency learns that a telegram has been received from Reval announcing the safe arrival of the British Labour Delegation at Petrograd at 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

mised to be as large as that of the previous season. Doubtless the high prices prevailing had led to a more rigid economy in the use of potatoes on Irish farms. It was estimated that when the season closed the total export will exceed 300,000 tons, of a value of something approaching three millions sterling, which was easily a record figure for the article. The Department continued to give the most serious attention to eradicating the disease of black scab, which was practically confined to a section of one county. Their efforts had at least prevented any extension of the disease at a time when it was making considerable ravages in England. The prospect for profitable potato export in the coming season was exceedingly good.

LICENSING OF STALLIONS.

Under the Licensing of Stallions Act all stallions—save thoroughbreds used solely for thoroughbred mares—must be licensed by the Department, who were empowered before granting a licence to satisfy themselves as to the suitability and soundness of the sire. In all 2,079 applications for licences had been received to date. A few were still being received. Each animal was seen and reported on by two inspectors, one examining for conformation and the other—a veterinary surgeon—for soundness. The work, though heavy, had been accomplished in good time. Of the 2,079 applications 265 were refused, more than half of which were half-breds sired by a Clydesdale or a Shire. Of the 265 rejected, 112 were unsound; the remainder, 153, though sound, were rejected for defective conformation. An appeal was allowed against the Department's decision, and 55 appeals had been lodged, of which, to date, 12 had been dismissed and 35 upheld. The Department had not administered the Act too rigidly. A number of sires had been licensed for this year which were of a rather low standard. The Department's hope is that gradually they will be able to educate the country to the need for better sires, and to raise the standard far above that which circumstances have this year necessitated.

FOOD CONTROL.

It was almost a year since their Vice-President was asked by the Government to succeed Lord Granard as Food Controller in Ireland, and the administrative work of food control in Ireland was placed in the Department's hands. While these duties had greatly increased their responsibilities, they considered that on the whole it was an advantage to Irish agriculture that food questions should be in the hands of those responsible for safeguarding Irish agricultural interests. This new arrangement frequently put the Vice-President of the Department in the position of an arbitrator between the farmers and the consumers. There might be some difference of opinion as to their success, or want of success, in details, but he respectfully submitted that an honest attempt had been made to reconcile the two duties in the interest of the community at large. (Hear, hear.)

TECHNICAL INSTRUCTION.

With regard to the field of technical instruction, in his address in May last year he drew attention to the increasing difficulty experienced by Technical Instruction Committees in carrying out their work owing to the lack of adequate funds. Numerous and pressing applications for additional funds were made to the Department by local statutory bodies, and the Department strongly urged upon the Treasury the need for increased funds and ventured to hope, in view of the vital importance of technical instruction to the needs of the country, that the necessary funds would be forthcoming. He was glad to be able to say that the claims of technical instruction have been recognised and in a partial degree met. They made strong representation to the Treasury as to the loss sustained by local authorities, owing to the diminution of grants consequent upon the effect of the epidemics, on the attendance at technical schools. The Treasury agreed to their making good this loss, and they were, therefore, able, under their programme, to pay grants amounting to over £75,000 in respect of the session 1918-19, which was about £12,000 in excess of the grants for the previous session. The Treasury also responded to their representations on behalf of the teachers in technical schools, and allowed them to pay to all whole-time teachers under committees working approved schemes, a war bonus equal to that which had been granted in respect of civil servants. The total additional grant required for this purpose amounted to some £59,000. They made a further grant of £20,000, of which half was devoted to raising the payments to part-time teachers by 33⅓ per cent., while the remainder was made available for increasing the revenue of local schemes. This aid, which was sorely needed, had enabled committees to carry on their schemes without diminution, but everywhere they found opportunities and needs for extension, and it was hoped that funds would be made available for work which was so necessary and which yielded so certain a return. Their technical schools had not only maintained their valuable work, but increased in efficiency and numbers. In the present session there were between 4,000 and 5,000 more students enrolled in their technical schools and classes than in the preceding session. Unfortunately the world wide unrest following the war had not yet subsided, food was scarce and dear, cultivation over large tracts of the world was still impossible or seriously interfered with, transport was non-existent or disorganised. The world situation continued to offer Irish farmers the most pressing and practical inducement to increase their output. The general willingness to adopt the most modern and scientific methods of husbandry, together with the newest types of labour saving machinery, of which there were several interesting illustrations at the Royal Dublin Society's Show, was one of the most encouraging features. The season 1919-20 undoubtedly meant abounding prosperity for their premier industry. Granted suitable weather he could see no reason why its successor should not record a further and striking advance.

THE DISCUSSION.

A short discussion took place on the Chairman's address, in the course of which Mr. O'Gorman alluded to the Corn Production Act, and described it as a swindle.

Major J. E. B. Loftus, D.L., withdrew a resolution he had on the agenda, which expressed regret that the Government had re-introduced into Parliament the Irish Education Bill, and protested against it being passed into law, because it was opposed to the religious convictions and the national sentiments of the Irish people. He explained that his reason for withdrawing was that the Government had withdrawn the bill, and that the Chairman had made a statement regarding the future progress of agricultural education in the country.

Mr. W. R. Gubbins asked why the Department allowed last year the compulsory slaughter of calves in the South of Ireland.

Mr. Field questioned if there was any communication about the increased grants necessary for technical education. The teachers were badly paid, and it would be impossible to carry on the work if additional money were not got.

Mr. Prentice (Chief Veterinary Inspector) said that the Department issued an Order in 1914 prohibiting the slaughter of calves. No doubt it was difficult to prevent some of these things occurring. The Department had under consideration the question of prosecuting a number of persons in one town in the West of Ireland in whose stalls calves were found. That policy would be pursued.

Mr. Gubbins said that it was cruel to see the carcases of calves hanging in the butchers' stalls.

Mr. Fletcher, answering Mr. Field, said that the Treasury had already granted bonuses to whole time teachers of local committees on the same scale as that granted to civil servants, and that came to a sum of £59,000. In addition, the Department had made a grant enabling them to increase the emoluments of part time teachers by 33⅓ per cent. The total increase to teachers amounted to £79,000. They did not regard the matter as settled, and hoped to secure better treatment.

THE LATE SIR T. W. RUSSELL.

Mr. Robert Downes (Westmeath) proposed a resolution expressing regret at the death of the late Sir T. W. Russell, and tendering sympathy with Lady Russell and family. Sir Thomas, who deserved to be gratefully remembered by Irish farmers, always did his best according to his lights for the advancement of his country.

Mr. J. S. F. McCance, D.L., seconded the motion, which was passed in silence.

STATEMENT BY THE SECRETARY.

Mr. T. P. Gill (Secretary) said that he felt, in duty to the Council and as a mark of proper respect to that great body with which he had been associated from its formation, that he should report to them a conclusion he had come to and which he might put into effect before the Council met again. He had passed the age of sixty, and he had for a considerable time past felt a strong desire, after a long and arduous period of service, to exercise the right a Civil Servant enjoyed after sixty and give notice of his retirement. Of late, since the war ended, he had laboured to safeguard every interest in the Department that needed safeguarding so far as his opportunities in his present position enabled him. He appreciated that there were in all probability a time of transition immediately ahead, and he was prepared to remain until the Department was safely through that time. He might have gone on disregarding the strain, in spite of its severity, if he believed his further continuance in office was specially needed for the welfare of the Department, or had he not a feeling that, with things as they were and as they were likely to be, he could be of more help to the Department and to the work which was part of his life and better situated for helping the Government in connection with the Department than under the conditions inherent, and properly inherent, in the position of a civil servant. He thought they had reached a turning-point in the development of the Department; and whether by means of a measure which was now before Parliament, which removed technical instruction from the Department's sphere of administration, or by some other measure, a great change in the framework of their Department seemed inevitable. Preoccupation with the change had been an added factor in the anxieties and strain of his own responsibility of late. He did not mean that he was opposed to development or change. His feeling was that he could best help in the reconstructive process in the way he indicated. Moreover, there is a principle of the Department's life now much in need of some safeguarding. The Department was founded in a constitutional idea, the main part of which was that its field of work should be a common ground on which Irishmen of all parties, however much they differed on other matters, should be represented and should work together. A great Conservative statesman, Mr. Gerald Balfour, shared these views with sincerity, and was the Minister who gave effect to them in legislation. The Recess Committee, the first begetter of the Department, which met on the invitation of Sir Horace Plunkett—and when he mentioned that honoured name let him say that none of the beneficent endeavours with which it was associated had been more beneficent or more fruitful than that—was a complete expression of the idea. The essence of the Department's spirit being what it was, it set an emphasis something beyond the ordinary on the quality of impartiality in those called on to administer it. Mr. Barrie came to the Department a man occupying a very strong and unmistakable political standpoint, and there was some comment from opponent quarters on his appointment, as there was in his own very much less important case. Well, they could say this—end he could speak from experience not confined to his own Department or to this country—that no man could have entered upon his responsibility with a sounder or more genuine spirit of impartiality or liberality of judgment than did Mr. Barrie. (Hear, hear.) And this referred to personal as well as administrative questions. His own relations with him had been the most cordial, open and straightforward. (Hear, hear.) He might without invidiousness, simply because they were the two chief officers, mention Mr. Campbell and Mr. Fletcher. (Applause.) Ireland did not know what she owed to the devotion of these men. (Applause.)

The Chairman said that he had never yet pictured the Department of Agriculture without Mr. Gill as its presiding genius. He certainly had never thought for one moment of taking any step that would deprive them and Ireland of his invaluable services. Therefore, he had most respectfully and very sincerely to suggest that the Council's view would be to join with him in asking Mr. Gill to reconsider this matter. (Hear, hear.) Alluding to the success of the Department's work, he said that that success was entirely owing to the fact that all political or semi-political references had been strictly excluded from their deliberations. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. William Field, Mr. James McCarthy (Louth), and Mr. L. O'Gorman (Cork) joined in the Chairman's view, all paying tribute to the services rendered by Mr. Gill.

Most Rev. Dr. Kelly then moved the following resolution:—"The Council have heard with extreme regret of Mr. Gill's contemplated retirement from office. It would be difficult to express adequately their sense of the distinguished and valuable service he has rendered to his country and the cause of agricultural and educational progress, as one of the chief founders and constructors of the Department, so original in its conception and successful in its working, and as its chief organiser and permanent head since its foundation. They know well the strain of arduous labour he has always devoted to his great task, especially since the war, and he is more than entitled to the relief he seeks. They also appreciate the sincerity of his conviction that he can best help the working of the Department in future by being free from office; nevertheless, they most earnestly request him to reconsider his intention."

Mr. H. de F. Montgomery, D.L., seconded the motion, and expressed the wish that Mr. Gill might continue to stay in his present position during the rest of his (Mr. Montgomery's) time.

Mr. T. P. McKenna (Cavan) said that if Mr. Gill resigned a feeling of suspicion would prevail throughout the country. It would have a serious effect if it were felt that Mr. Gill was forced to resign. He appealed to him to stand to his post and go down with the ship. The Partition Bill now before Parliament was going to ruin not only the country, but the Council of Agriculture. It would no longer be a Council for the whole of Ireland if the Partitionists got their way. "We cannot shut our eyes to the fact," added Mr. McKenna, "that amongst the implements used in that destruction appears the Vice-President of the Department. (Cries of 'No, no.') I repeat it."

Mr. Gill—Mr. McKenna, may I venture to appeal to you?

Mr. McKenna—We cannot regard your retirement in any other light than with the decease and dismemberment of the Council and the Department of Agriculture for Ireland.

Rev. J. G. Digges said that the last speaker had appealed to Mr. Gill to stand to his post and go down with the ship, and he rose to appeal to Mr. Gill to stand to his post because the ship was not going down. (Hear, hear.)

The Chairman thought that the Council would accept his assurance that no member regretted more than he did the very suggestion that Mr. Gill would think of deserting them at this particular time. He trusted that, after the expression of opinion from all sections to which Mr. Gill had listened, he would feel it his duty to stand by the Council, and that he would reconsider the intention which he expressed to them that day. (Hear, hear.)

The resolution was unanimously passed.

Mr. Gill, in his reply, remarked that his decision had been mainly brought about by the state of his health. As to Mr. McKenna's remarks, he said that it was natural enough, in the present state of the public mind, where suspicions and rumours were rife, that a construction other than the simple and straightforward one should be put on a man's action. There was absolutely no foundation of any sort or description for a suspicion of the kind—(hear, hear)—neither from Mr. Barrie nor from any member of the Government, the Chief Secretary nor anybody else had he had the slightest suggestion bearing on that construction. He acted entirely on his own responsibility. Having got the war work through, and having arranged to get through the immediate state of things ahead of them, he thought he was well entitled to ask for his retirement, and that out of respect to that Council, which would not meet again for another six months, he was bound to report his decision to it.

DEPARTMENT AND LIBERTY HALL.

Mr. Michael Dunne (Dublin) moved a resolution protesting against the action of the Department in holding a conference, composed largely of Labour and traders, to arrange the terms of export of certain farm produce from Ireland whilst the producers were not properly represented. He said that the resolution was sent him by the Executive of the Irish Farmers' Union. An illegal embargo had been put on butter and bacon, while the Department stood by and did nothing. He complained of the manner in which County Dublin farmers had been treated in the matter of disputes with the Transport Union.

Mr. P. J. Kennedy, J.P. (Meath), seconded the motion, and said that the peace-at-any-price policy of the Department had left the Irish farmers on their knees before Liberty Hall. He accused the Department of being the greatest buttress of Liberty Hall. They patted Liberty Hall on the back, and seemed to be afraid of their lives of that institution. A few years ago it was that Liberty Hall was tottering, but owing to the support given by the Department it was again in a flourishing condition.

Mr. R. N. Boyd (Antrim) defended the action of the Department in regard to the conference referred to. The Labour Party were most reasonable at the conference, and their action was brought about owing to the decision of the farmers to hold up supplies in anticipation of bigger prices for bacon.

Mr. Murphy (Louth) declared that the farmers were saddled with the whole brunt of increased prices.

Mr. D. J. Cogan said that the first consideration of the people of Ireland was that they must get food, and he thought that the I.T. and G.W. Union was quite right in taking up the attitude they did in the matter.

Mr. D. Johnstone, J.P., considered that the Irish Farmers' Union was silly in not going into the conference.

The Chairman, summing up the discussion, said that when exports were stopped by Labour there were three courses open to the Department. They might have fought Labour in the illegal action they had taken; the second course was to insist on the Government re-imposing control; end the third course—the one which they adopted—was to try by conciliatory means to make at least temporary arrangements for exports. If the farmers had decided that the time had come when they were in a position to have a tilt with Labour, then they could declare the arrangements at an end.

Mr. Dunne, on the suggestion of the Chairman, withdrew his motion.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE MAID OF ORLEANS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It is surely somewhat absurd to carry the loves and hates of modern politics into the consideration of an historical event which took place almost five hundred years ago. Yet this is what some of your correspondents have done when endeavouring to fix the blame for the death of Joan Darc on the English or on the French, or rather on that section of the latter, the Burgundians, who sided with the English. It was by the forces of a Burgundian, the Count de St. Pol, that Joan was captured, and by the Duke of Burgundy she was sold to the English for 10,000 francs. It was a Burgundian bishop, Pierce Cauchin, Bishop of Beauvais, who presided at her trial, but the English Cardinal Beaufort was present at the execution, and he it was who directed the ashes of the Maid to be thrown into the Seine. The Duke of Bedford, English Regent of France, and, indeed, all the high-placed English officials fully approved of the treatment of "the witch."

Thus it appears that the dishonour is divided. Still, the division is scarcely equal, for the guilt of the Burgundians is blacker. They were Frenchmen, and, for a quarrel really little better than a private one, they were fighting on the strangers' side against their native king, and the girl whom they sold was their countrywoman, the champion of their nation's cause. To the English Joan was a foreigner, and she was trying to wrest from them the fruits of Henry V.'s victories. As regards both Burgundians and English, we must, in fairness, remember how very widespread was the belief in witchcraft in the fifteenth century. Except in our own country, where the cases were very few—in the Celtic districts there were none—the burning of supposed witches was common in most parts of Europe, and many of the victims were not old hags, but young women, sometimes even girls. Thus the fate of Joan Darc did not inspire the horror in 1431 that the account of it inspires to-day.

By the way, it is surely time that the incorrect manner of spelling the name Darc as d'Arc should be abandoned. The Darcs were simple peasants, they had no claim to the "de," which is a mark of nobility. The last representative of the family, General Darc, who died about twenty years ago, never used the apostrophe in spelling his name. It would be as absurd to write d'Anton for Danton in naming the great leader of the French Revolution, as it is to write d'Arc for Darc.—Yours, etc.,

CHURCH FINANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I have read with interest the letters of Messrs. Culverwell and Thrift dealing with the Representative Church Body's finance. In them an important admission is made—that parishes which have received money since the value of money has increased should receive the benefit of that increase. This has not happened. Take the year 1917, when the War Loan was floated, and we find that a parish which had £1,000 left with the Representative Church Body for its benefit only receives £35 a year. Had the parish the management of its own finances it would receive a little over £52 10s. on Government security, and the £1,000 would be paid back, with an addition of £50, in 1929-1947. Thus the parish loses £17 10s. a year, as well as the £50 capital increase; and the Church at large has the benefit of the profit. It is very difficult for the ordinary man to understand this method of dealing with trust money, and I think that it needs explanation.—Yours, etc.,

"FINANCIER."

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In the small hours of this morning I watched a party of armed raiders set fire to the recently vacated local police barracks. The deed was accomplished with admirable order and deliberation, well worthy of a better cause and plainly indicative of assured supremacy. If the enemy against which this blow was directed is the supposed British rule in this country, then there can be no doubt with whom the victory lies.

But the owners of the destroyed premises will naturally claim compensation for the loss; and, as the law—or apology for law—stands, this compensation will be assessed on the district, which, in common justice, is not responsible for an act in a campaign bounded only by the confines of Ireland. Those truly accountable are our so-called rulers, whose disastrous misrule has permitted the present state of affairs to arise.—Yours, etc.,

THOMAS J. HAYES.

IMPARTIAL CATTLE-DRIVING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I see in your issue of the 13th inst. a disclaimer from Mr. Michael H. Grogan, Castlerea, that any distinction was made as to the creed of any of the victims of the present cattle-driving campaign, which statement I can endorse. As a resident Protestant, and one whose cattle were also driven, I can testify to the impartiality and vigour of the methods employed; and I feel sure that Mr. Cotton's letter was written when his better judgment was warped by the very serious losses he was daily sustaining.

Conditions are sufficiently serious in the West of Ireland without introducing a religious flavour into the seething pot. For obvious reasons I must be anonymous.—Yours, etc.,

"TRUTH."

THE PLUMAGE BILL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—As we have no representatives of many Irish constituencies attending Parliament now, we have no means of expressing our views on the Plumage Bill. If a petition were got up, I feel sure that a great many Irishwomen would gladly sign it, thus showing their disapproval of this cruel sacrifice of bird life.—Yours, etc.,

Cheavasa (Moirin Fox), entitled "The Fire Bringers," will take place at the Abbey Theatre on Sunday, May 23rd, at 8.15 p.m., in aid of St. Ultan's Infant Hospital. The play is a traditionary one, the scene being laid in the days of Diarmuid and Grainne.

Suitable train services are arranged to Woodbrook, and leave Bray at 8 p.m., Westland Row at 6.40 and 7.45, and Harcourt street at 7.40 p.m. on Wednesday evening.

Madame Rock's annual matinée has been fixed to take place this year in the Theatre Royal on Whit Saturday, the 22nd inst., and a very pretty display is expected. In the more elaborate scenes scores of the little ones will be seen on the stage at once, taking part in pretty ballets and tableaux. Their dancing lessons have been varied, and made pleasant by little action songs, which they will perform in costume on the occasion. The more distinguished pupils will be seen in solo items of song and dance. This annual event is always a pretty show, and in this year's event much talent will be found.

LAW REPORTS.

BRAY GENTLEMAN'S WILL.—The Probate suit of West v. West and others came before Mr. Justice Moore yesterday at Nisi Prius. The plaintiff, Mrs. Florence West, brought the action to establish the will of her husband, the late Mr. Alfred E. West, of Kilcroney, Bray, who died suddenly at the Co. Meath Agricultural Show in Navan last September. The plaintiff, in her statement of claim, stated that on or about February 25th, 1913, the testator made his last will, but it could not be found. It directed the payment of £500 to his butler, William Boyce, in recognition of his faithful services during a long number of years, and £100 to his head gardener. He gave one year's wages to a number of his servants, and appointed his wife residuary legatee. The defendants, Cyril C. West, Harold R. A. West, Aubrey F. West, and Hazel V. Laverton, children of the testator, pleaded that the will in question was destroyed by the testator with the intention of revocation. They asked the Court to pronounce against the will, and to decide that they, or some of them, are entitled to a grant of letters of administration intestate of the personal estate and effects of the deceased. The plaintiff, in her reply to the defence, pleaded that (admitting that the will in question was destroyed by the deceased with the intention of revocation) the alleged revocation was dependent on the efficacy as a will of a paper writing signed by the deceased, dated January 26th, 1918, and purporting to be his last will. This paper writing was not duly executed, being signed, but not witnessed, and it provided for the payment of £2,000 to the testator's son, Aubrey. The total value of the estate was estimated at £40,000. Mr. Leech, K.C.; Mr. Babington, K.C., and Mr. H. Hughes (instructed by Messrs. Webb, Scott, and Seymour) appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Serjeant Sullivan, Mr. Swayne, K.C., and Mr. Phelps (instructed by Messrs. Montgomery and Chaytor) appeared for defendants. The plaintiff stated in evidence that she and testator both agreed to make wills prior to going on a voyage to South Africa in 1913. He agreed to leave everything to her (with the exception of the bequests mentioned), and she made a reciprocal will in his favour. The judge reserved judgment.

FEAR OF PREMATURE BURIAL.—Questions of law arising under a lady's remarkable will came before Mr. Justice Kenny in the Probate Court yesterday. The testatrix, Helena Bereczy, was born in Ireland, and about 40 years ago went to Budapest as a teacher of English. She subsequently married a Hungarian subject named Stanton, who died. She afterwards married Maurice Bereczy, another Hungarian, at St. George's Church, Dublin, and returned with him to Hungary. The testatrix in her will stated:—"I am to be buried at eight in the morning. A surgeon is to be paid to put a knife right through my heart, as I fear being buried alive." The estate was valued at £1,800. Mr. Morgan Byrne (instructed by Messrs. Mooney and Son) applied for a grant of administration on behalf of Miss Bessie Segrave, of 32 Grosvenor road, Rathgar, a sister of the testatrix. Mr. Justice Kenny adjourned the application for expert legal evidence of Hungarian law regarding the validity of the will.

ERROR IN A WILL.—A question arising on the will of Miss Annie Moore, late of 21 Newtown avenue, Blackrock, Co. Dublin, deceased, came before Mr. Justice Powell in the Chancery Division. By her will the testatrix directed that her executors should sell "the seven houses I hold in Sydney terrace, Blackrock," and hold the proceeds upon certain trusts. After making certain bequests the testatrix left the residue of her property in equal shares to the Superioress of the Convent of the Holy Faith, Glasnevin, to be applied by her for the benefit of the orphanage attached to that institution, and to the Superioress of the Sisters of the Assumption, Kingstown, to be applied by her for the benefit of the poor of Blackrock. It transpired that the testatrix actually named eight, and not seven, houses in Sydney terrace, Blackrock; and the main question for decision was whether the direction in the will operated as a gift of all the eight houses; or whether the direction conferred on the executors or others a power to select seven houses out of the eight to be sold; or whether the direction and gift of the seven houses were void for uncertainty or otherwise. Mr. Justice Powell reserved his decision. Mr. McCutcheon (instructed by Messrs. John Clark and Co.) appeared for the plaintiffs, the executors and trustees of the will; Mr. McCann, K.C. (instructed by Sir John R. O'Connell), for the Superioress of the Convent of the Holy Faith, Glasnevin; Mr. H. Wilson (instructed by Mr. Cartan O'Meara) for the Superioress of the Sisters of the Assumption, Kingstown; Mr. Russell (instructed by Mr. M. Good) for Miss Mary Moore, a beneficiary, and Mr. Redmond (instructed by Messrs. Monroe and Anderson) for Mrs. Rosanna Courtney, a legatee.

LETTING OF DUBLIN LANDS.—Mr. Justice Moore, sitting without a jury, heard an action in which Mr. John P. Cuffe, salesman and auctioneer, of North Circular road, Dublin, sought to recover from Mr. James Flanagan, farmer, of Kyle House, Drumcondra, £80 balance alleged to be due on foot of an agreement for an agistment letting to the defendant of 20 acres (Irish) of the lands of Millhead, St. Margaret's, Co. Dublin, at £5 an acre, from 6th August, 1919, to 31st December, 1919. The defendant's defence was that he employed his brother, Mr. J. J. Flanagan, a contractor and builder, to do certain works in respect of gates and piers on the lands, and that he had paid him £52 15s. 10d. at Mr. Cuffe's request for the work. He claimed to set off this amount against Mr. Cuffe's claim, and he lodged the balance of £27 4s. 2d. in court. Mr. Cuffe's case was that he did not authorise the work referred to, nor the payment for it. Mr. Justice Moore held with the plaintiff, and gave judgment for the full amount claimed with costs. Mr. Serjeant Sullivan, Mr. Swayne, K.C., and Mr. Devitt (instructed by Mr. James Fagan), appeared for plaintiff; Mr. Murphy, K.C., and Mr. Rearden (instructed by Mr. James Brady) for defendant.

IRISH CASE IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

In the House of Lords yesterday judgment was delivered in the case of Bradshaw v. McMullan. The appeal was heard by Lord Birkenhead, Lord Chancellor; Viscount Finlay, Viscount Cave, Lord Atkinson, and Lord Shaw, of Dunfermline. The action was brought by Mrs. Georgina Wilhelmina Bradshaw, of Mount Temple, Clontarf, against Mr. Louis McMullan, of 30 Bachelor's Walk, Dublin, auctioneer, for £140, seven months' rent under an agreement for a lease, dated 1st September, 1908, made between the plaintiff and the defendant, for the term of 31 years, in respect of premises No. 30 Bachelor's Walk. The defendant contended that at the time of the execution of the agreement for lease no part of the premises included in the agreement was separately valued; that the whole house was valued at £90, and that the house itself was let to various tenants, who occupied it separately, and that the landlord paid all rates and taxes; that the £240 rent charged to the defendant for his part of the premises included all rates and taxes as at present existing or assessed; that the defendant agreed to pay five-sevenths of all future or increased taxation caused by alterations or improvements, and lodged in court the sum of £112 13s. 5d., deducting £27 6s. 7d. for rates and taxes paid by him. Defendant also counter-claimed £27 6s. 7d., money paid by him for the use of the plaintiff.

The case was originally tried before Sir James H. Campbell, Bart., as Lord Chief Justice, on the 20th day of December, 1917, who gave judgment in favour of the plaintiff with costs.

The King's Bench Divisional Court, on a motion for a new trial, reversed the Lord Chief Justice's decision, Mr. Justice Madden dissenting.

The Court of Appeal upheld the decision of the King's Bench Division, and the case then went to the House of Lords, where judgment was given yesterday in appellant's favour, their Lordships unanimously allowing the appeal with costs to the appellant, thus restoring the original decision of the present Lord Chancellor of Ireland.

Counsel for the appellant (plaintiff)—Mr. Serjeant Sullivan, K.C.; Mr. Wylie, K.C.; Mr. G. N. Oulton, K.C.; Mr. James C. Geoghegan (instructed by Messrs. William Smyth and Son).

Counsel for respondent (defendant)—Mr. William M. Jellett, K.C., M.P.; Mr. Alfred Dickie, K.C.; Mr. James Henry (instructed by Mr. S. G. Rutherford).

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED STRONG.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, FRIDAY.

Stocks opened firm. The speculative sentiment being more hopefully disposed, Shippings, Equipments, Steels, and Oils advanced, and, despite the light volume of business, the gains widened. Traders deemed the dulness of the market as indicative of the oversold condition. The advances ranged from 1 to 4 points, but Rails were little affected. Bethlehem Steel and American Sumatra Tobacco reacted on new financing projects. Some covering, however, in the late dealings caused a strong close.

THE MAY FETE.

The May Fête, which was organised by the Viscountess Powerscourt in aid of the National Children's Hospital, Harcourt street, Dublin, entered upon its third day in Lord Iveagh's beautiful grounds yesterday, and met with as great success as on the previous two days. The weather was favourable for enjoying the delightful surroundings of the gardens, the natural beauty of which enhanced the artistic effects of the artificial adornments that an energetic committee and an indefatigable band of willing workers skilfully wove into the varied and multitudinous attractions. One of the special features of the Fair was the Grand Palais de Dance, a section that in itself proved a congenial pleasure resort during the evening and at night, while the tempting assortment of refreshments appeared to be irresistible.

There was brisk business at the well-stocked stalls yesterday, and hundreds indulged in the sensations experienced in a mountain slide and the merry-go-rounds, while the roulette tables exercised their fascination on behalf of a really deserving cause. Palmistry, too, claimed many hands, and the golf competitions were entered into with a spirit of friendly rivalry. The half-hour concerts were highly enjoyable, and, as the music lover was satisfied in this respect, the admirers of Shakespeare had opportunities of listening to intelligent recitals of selections from that author.

The Chu Chin Chow Gardens appealed to the æsthetic temperament, and the Casino was well patronised during the afternoon and especially late in the evening. The bands of the Dublin Metropolitan Police and of the Comrades of the Great War contributed selections of music in the grounds throughout the day.

The Fête will be continued to-day, when it will be open at 2.45 p.m.

The fete will conclude to-night at 10.15.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

FUNDS STRONG. GUINNESS RALLY. BANK STOCK AND TEXTILES FLAT. CITY STEAM STRONG. OILS BETTER.

There was the more or less usual week-end contraction in the volume of dealing on 'Change yesterday, with a mixture of bright spots and continued adverse changes in prices. The Funds rallied sharply in answer to London quotations. Banks turned sellers and gave way where business resulted. Guinness Ord. rallied on a little better support. City Steam was very strong, but nominal at 120 to 126 x.d. and bonus. Marconis steadied a little, but the new were sold at a discount on issue price. Rails remain depressed. Dunlop Rubbers opened firm, but quietly turned sellers. Textiles show further material declines. Burke Prefs. were sellers. Oils recovered, but Imperial Tobaccos fell further.

Sharp gains were made in the Funds. War Loan 5 p.c. rose ¾ to 85¾, Irish Land 3 p.c. 2½ to 52½, and Indian 3½ p.c. ½ to 61. Belfast Corporation 3½ p.c., 1935, fell 4½ to 65½.

Banks closed on sale. Bank Stock fell 1 to 190½, 190, and Provincials ½ to 22½.

Dealing in Breweries was again confined to Guinness issues. The Ord. rallied ⅛ to 33⅛, and the Pref. remain at 9½. Dublin Distillers were still on sale at 50s., and perhaps less.

In Steam, Burns Pref. repeated 16s. City of Dublin closed 120 to 126 ex, say 50s., or equal to 245 to 257 for the old stock.

In Marconis, the Ord. rallied 6d. to 65s., but the Prefs were sellers at 60s., and the New Ord., 35s. paid, fell to 32s. 6d.

Home Rails were flat. Cork and Macroom fell 1 to 4½, and Great Southern and Western 1½ to 58. Bandon repeated 40, and Kingstown Leased Line 100.

Tramways were featureless.

In Dunlops, Parent Tyre Pref. repeated 14s. 6d. Dunlop Rubber Ord. opened at 8⅝, then fell to 8½, and after hours closed sellers at 8¼, ⅛.

Manufacturing Shares show depression in Textiles. Bleachers fell 3s. 6d. to 43s., Dyers 9d. to 50s. 6d., Calicos 5s. 6d. to 32s., and Coats 1s. to 58s. Vickers fell 6d. to 29, but Lever Bros. 6 p.c. "B" Pref. rose 4½d. to 19s. 3d.

In Trading, etc., Burke Pref. offered at last price, 66s. 3d., while in other business done Imperial Tobacco fell 9d. to 49s. 9d., but Mexican Eagle Oil rose ⅛ to 9⅞, and Shells ⅛ to 10⅛.

BELFAST STOCK EXCHANGE.

A DULL WEEK.

The past week has been marked by a renewal of the general depression, and in all departments there is a surplus of selling orders. Buyers are few, and prices generally ruled lower. The feature of the week has been the strength of Gilt-Edged Securities, particularly 5 p.c. War Loan, which has advanced to 85¾. Northern Bank, A and B, are offered; while there is some Provincial Bank and London County and Westminster in the market. Railways are neglected, and both Great Northern Ord. and Belfast and Co. Down Ord. are offered. In the Textile section Coats Ord. and Edenderry Spinning Co. are wanted; also the 6 p.c. of York Street Spinning Co. Bakery Shares are a good market. Bernard Hughes Ord., Bloomfield Bakery Pref., and Inglis Pref. are wanted; while the Ord. of the latter company are offered. In Distilleries William Cowan and Co. Ord. are wanted; also Mitchell and Co. Deb. and McConnell's Pref.; Dunvilles are offered. British-American Tobacco Ord. are lower at 4¼, and Imperial Tobacco at 49/9, a decline of 3d. Dunlops were dealt in at 8½, but later dropped to 8¼. Warden Ord. and Pref. are wanted; also W. M. Cuthbert Ord. York Street New Pref. were done at a premium of 10½. Amalgamated Cotton Pref. brought 16/-.

STOCKS REACT.

MARKETS OPEN CHEERFULLY, BUT HAVE TO FACE FRESH SELLING.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Market conditions yesterday were somewhat similar to those prevailing on the previous day. At first there was a disposition to take a fairly cheerful view, but, as investors are still holding aloof, and reports were current regarding fresh Colonial borrowing, a reactionary tendency developed before the close. The report of the War Savings Committee, showing that a special confiscation is practicable, created very little interest in the City. The general opinion appears to be that the Chancellor will adhere to his proposal to increase the excess profits duty to 60 per cent., and probably make it permanent. Reverting to markets, rather a feature was the demand for securities carrying a fixed rate of interest, which has now extended to the various Deb. and Pref. Stocks in the Home Rail department. A smart advance to 86¼ was registered by the 5 p.c. War Loan early in the session. A more optimistic view was taken of the monetary situation, but no decided ease in money rates or greater facilities for loans from the banks are anticipated just yet. The War Loan failed to maintain the high price recorded in the morning, for fresh selling was in evidence later in the day, and there was a reaction to 85¾, which was ¼ above the previous night's level.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET.

The Stock Exchange during yesterday's session was dull, but steady. There was no important selling either of a forced or general character to digest, but the immediate outlook was still distrusted, and week-end influences were restrictive. Quotations were marked forward tentatively here and there, but they developed hesitancy on advances, and net variations in prices were irregular. There were evidences of further organised support for War Loans, but tight monetary conditions were counter-active to some extent, and movements on balance in this part of the House were mixed as elsewhere. Among gilt-edged securities, quotations moved uncertainly. The War Loans were spottily good on buying, which was partially attributed to the Government broker. War Fives closing under best, were ⅛ higher at 85¾. Miscellaneous gilt-edged issues were irregular, with moderate mixed changes on the day.

FOREIGN BONDS UNSTEADY.—In the Foreign market French Fives were unchanged. The Fours were easier at 35½, reflecting the moderate decline in the value of the franc. Egyptian Loans showed heaviness, the Unified issue being only 67. Russians were easier, the Fives closing around 21, and further news regarding the Moscow situation was awaited with interest. Mexican Loans showed no change among South Americans on the further indications that orderly government was being re-established.

Changes.—Falls—Brazil 4 p.c., 1½ to 42; do. Funding (1908), 1 to 70; Chinese 5 p.c., 1 to 61; Egyptian Unified, 1½ to 67.

HOME RAILS LACK INTEREST.—Home Rails were a quiet and uninteresting market. Prices generally were lower. There were several changes of ½ to 1 downwards.

Changes.—Rises—Great Northern Pref., ½ to 47½. Falls—Central London Def., ¼ to 8¼; Great Western, ½ to 82; London and North-Western, ½ to 86; Taff Vale, 1 to 50; Underground Ord., ⅛ to 1⅛; do. Income Bonds, 1 to 61.

CANADIANS AND MEXICANS UNCERTAIN.—Canadian-Pacifics were 2 points lower at 148, while Grand Trunk 4 p.c. Guaranteed rose a point to 55½. Mexican 8 p.c. Pref. rose 2 to 43, and Antofagasta Pref. Ord. were 1 to the good at 86. There were several declines of ½ in B.A. Stocks and a fall of 1 in Central Argentine Rails.

INDUSTRIALS MOSTLY LOWER, BUT TONE LESS DEPRESSED.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

A rather indeterminate finish to the week left the Industrial and Miscellaneous market irregular in appearance yesterday. The factors which throughout the five days had operated for good or ill on the market had not ceased to influence the various sections. There were again evidences of the individual straightening out of accounts, a proportion of bear covering, further forcing out of weak holdings, and a little genuine investment buying. Bargain hunters, in fact, appeared to be on the prowl. Several instances were noticeable of sound Pref. Stocks being acquired. There were also several advances in values in the popular manufacturing issues. Bears were looking over their outstanding liabilities in these shares and clearing them off in some cases. But the stream of liquidation had not yet run dry, and the more active stocks suffered in consequence, as presenting the best selling market.

Transactions in the Textile section were composed for the most part of selling orders, but a few bright spots served to hold the market together. Less inclination to part with shares at the lower level continued, while a little bear covering operated in favour of Calicos. The shares advanced slightly, recovering ⅛ at the close to 1⅜. British Dyestuffs Pref. gained 6d. at 15s. 6d., though the Ord. lost 9d. at 14s. 6d. Amalgamated Cottons strengthened, recovering ⅛ on balance to 1⅜. Spinners were still the figure. Cottons at 7⅛ were quite firm, and John Wood kept the price at 25s. ex-dividend. On the other hand, liquidation depressed Bleachers, which closed ⅛ down at 2¼, Dyers, which lost ⅛ at 2½, and Coats, which closed at 2⅞, or ⅛ lower. Courtaulds, in company with other speculative leaders, lost ground at 6⅞, or ¼ down on the day. In the Shipping list movements were sluggish, and business was confined to very small proportions. There was not much to indicate a check to the downward tendency in the Iron and Steel section, though the department was not devoid of interest. One or two bright spots serve to lighten the gloom. But on the whole the depression of the preceding days showed no signs of having lifted. Thus Vickers were dealt in around 28s., renewed liquidation accounting for the fresh decline. At this price the shares are considerably lower than the average for the past two years. But the capital has been largely augmented in the meanwhile. United Steel 6 p.c. A Debs. weakened to 88. Howard and Bullough eased further to 3⅜ in sympathy with Textiles. Ebbw Vales were not so good at 30s. 9d., or ⅛ down. Dorman Long reacted to 25s. 3d. Cammell Laird eased to 21s. Brunner Mond at 37s. were 6d. worse off. Armstrongs also shed 6d. at 29s. 6d. Argentine Pref. lost ⅛ at ⅛. B.S.A. were better, closing at 26s. 9d. John Brown, fully paid, stiffened to 26s. 3d. Guest Keen were an active spot, showing a net advance of 9d. to 47s.

More stock was pressed for sale among the more active speculative descriptions. The improvement registered on the previous day was not maintained in Dunlops, which shed ⅛ at 8¼ x.d. British Oil and Cake, after the recent fluctuations, according as the breath of rumour blew hot or cold, were subjected to further realisation. The price showed a net drop of 4s. to 42s. 6d. B.A.T. were easier at 4⅜, and Imperials fell in the absence of support at the previous low level, losing 1s. to 49s. Motors were easier. Maypole Pref. gained ⅛ at ⅞. Lyons Pref. stiffened to 14s.

STEADIER MINES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

While business in the Mining market yesterday remained on a very small scale, the indications of an improvement in sentiment, noticeable on Thursday, had evidently created a favourable impression, and there was a decided inclination to pick up some of the leading shares. Naturally, the report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on the taxation of war wealth came in for a good deal of discussion, possibly to the detriment of business, but in the Kaffir department evening-up transactions over the week-end helped prices forward here and there, while the report that the Luipaards Vlei management had, with the approval of the white workers, instituted a system of 40 natives being supervised by each white, as against the 25 to 1 arrangement hitherto existing, was taken to indicate some amelioration of the conditions under which the low grade mines are at present suffering. Changes on balance were small as a rule, but gains predominated, several of the Far Easterns being in request, while the leading financial descriptions kept steady. Rhodesians, which had hitherto shown a fairly firm front, were unable to maintain their position, and a little offering of one or two counters caused a general recession in values.

DROOPING TENDENCY IN PRINCIPAL OIL SHARES.

SHELLS AND MEXICAN EAGLES GIVE WAY ON REALISATIONS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Business in Oil shares yesterday was of an extremely quiet character. The opening was steady, but in the almost entire absence of demand the moderate improvements registered by the leaders overnight were quickly lost, while, although there was no pronounced pressure to sell, small lots were offered throughout the day on an unwilling market, with the result that quotations gradually fell away, finishing at the worst. Royal Dutch were, perhaps, the firmest spot among the leaders, on favourable anticipations regarding the forthcoming issue, and also the final dividend, which is due to be announced shortly, but even these shares were a trifle down on balance. The small amount of business from Paris can hardly be said to have influenced the market, but Shells and the Mexican Eagle issues finished appreciably lower, while Burmahs and Anglo-American moved down. Trinidad issues steadied, although, apart from a trifling gain in Leaseholds, prices were unaltered. As regards Russians, North Caucasians recovered, but Spies remained on the dull side. In other directions, Uroz Oilfields were freely offered, and moved down sharply, and English Oilfields further declined. Kern River became dull, and Roumanian Consolidated again weakened. Peru Syndicate came on offer, and Scottish-American were a dull market. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

OANS IN KEEN DEMAND.

Bank Rate (changed April 15th) .... 7 p.c.

The net disposable profit shows a considerable increase on previous years. Their best customers in Australia, in India, Africa, and in the Mediterranean ports are mailing increased orders. On 1st March last, Mr. Robert Irvine, of the firm of Messrs. W. and A. Gilbey, joined the company. The directors recommend a dividend at the rate of 20 per cent. on the capital of the company, free of income tax, after making allowance for maintenance, new duties, directors' fees, etc., and transferring a substantial amount to reserve account, and they continued the bonus to the staff and also to the company's agents.

The Trust and Loan Company of Canada announce that the bill for the reorganisation of the capital has passed through the Canadian Parliament, and has now received the Royal assent. Official returns of 37 of the principal tramway undertakings in the United Kingdom, as published by The Tramway and Railway World for the week ended May 1st, give total receipts of £349,324, or £47,813 more than in the corresponding week of last year. The total length of track included in the returns was 2,048 miles. Receipts this year were at the rate of £170 11/4 per mile of single track, and last year at the rate of £147 4/5, thus showing an increase for the week of £23 6/11 per mile open.

The official figures published a few days back as to gold exports revealed the relatively substantial amounts which are being sent to America, and the latest cables from Washington merely confirm that view. It is significant, however, that since the beginning of this year to the end of last month the imports of English gold have aggregated 57,723,000 dollars, which is only 2,500,000 dollars inferior in value to all the imports from Europe in the same period. How far these gold shipments are connected with the repayment of our portion of the Anglo-French Loan it is impossible to say, but that apart, there is no doubt that the policy now being adopted of using our slender gold resources to the best advantage is a wise one, and will greatly enhance our credit, not in America only, but in other countries as well. The manner in which gold has lately been going to America is a rather striking reply to the "send us gold" letter which created something of a stir a few months ago.

The directors of B. S. T. (Birmingham) have decided that it is no longer necessary to limit the number of shares which may be held by a member of the company to a minimum of 100, or a maximum of 500 shares. Shareholders therefore, may now hold any number of shares, whether a multiple of 100 or not. It is not proposed to issue any further shares at the present time.

PENDING ISSUE.

On Monday is expected the public announcement of the formation of Webb's Crystal Glass Co., Ltd., with an authorised capital of three-quarters of a million sterling. TYRE INVESTMENT TRUST, LIMITED.

HOLDINGS IN DUNLOP COMPANIES.

The second ordinary general meeting of the Tyre Investment Trust, Ltd., was held at Essex Hall, Essex street, Strand, London, W.C., yesterday, the Right Hon. Sir Henry Dalziel, Bart., M.P., presiding.

The Secretary (Mr. H. Morton) having read the notice convening the meeting,

The Chairman said—Ladies and gentlemen, the report and accounts have been in your hands for the prescribed period, and I propose, with your permission, to take them as read. As you are aware, the assets of this company principally consist of share and debenture holdings in the Dunlop Rubber Company (Far East), Ltd., and the Dunlop Tyre and Rubber Goods Company, Ltd., Canada. We hold all, or nearly all, the shares and debentures in the Far East Company, and up to February, 1920, held all, or nearly all, the Common Stock of the Canadian Company. The Common Stock of the Canadian Company has recently been increased. This, I understand, was necessary on account of additions to the works. After careful consideration your directors decided not to apply for any of the increased issue, as it would have involved sending out of the Kingdom a large sum of money, and at that particular time it was concluded that it was not in the nation's interest to send money out of the country. Our holding now is approximately 58 per cent. of the total Common Stock issued.

It is from the profits of these two companies that our company derives its main income. I will, therefore, give you a brief epitome of their results and prospects.

FIGURES OF PROGRESS.

As to the growth of the Far East and Canadian Companies, the combined turnovers show the following increases:—

1917 over 1916	32 per cent.
1918 over 1917	29 per cent.
1919 over 1918	29 per cent.

The combined profits show the following increases:—

1917 over 1916	31 per cent.
1918 over 1917	48 per cent.
1919 over 1918	43 per cent.

The figure for 1919 is subject to the final completion of the balance sheets, but we are informed that the amount will not be materially varied. I think you will agree with me when I say that the 1919 results have more than justified the forecast I gave when I had the honour to address you in May last year. From information supplied by the directors of the two companies, we understand that the turnover for the first three months of the current year, as compared with the same period of 1919, shows an increase of 80 per cent. The increase for the same period of 1919 over 1918 was 25 per cent. I gather also that they look forward to this year with great confidence, and unless something unforeseen happens, a considerable increase in the annual turnover is expected, with so far as it is humanly possible to judge a relative increase in the profits. As shareholders we owe great gratitude to the directors and staffs of the two companies, and particularly to Mr. Millward, the managing director of the Far East Company, and Mr. Westren, the general manager of the Canadian Company.

PREFERENCE ISSUE.

Since the last meeting of the company a new issue was made in June last of 1,000,000 7 per cent. Cum. Preference Shares of £1 each at par, for the purpose of redeeming the mortgages on the company's assets. These, as you will remember, stood in the last balance sheet—with interest—at £894,747 18s. 4d. Immediately on the completion of the issue your directors entered into arrangements with the mortgagees to accept payment, and on this account a sum of £522,986 has been paid off during the year under review. I understand that the balance will shortly be accepted by the mortgagees, and thus remove any charge in priority to the Preference Shares. You will, however, note that the balance, roundly of £372,000, still to be paid is more than covered by the items "other investments" and "cash on deposit and current account" appearing in the balance sheet, amounting to £385,939 0s. 6d., which are being held for the purpose of clearing off the mortgages.

MONEY RECEIVED.

The amount received by this company, as shown by the accounts in respect of dividends on shares, interest on debentures, etc., for the year ended 29th February, 1920, was £311,352 7s. 2d. After deducting interest on mortgages, directors' fees, general management expenses, and loss on realisation of War Loan, amounting together to £98,009 3s. 1d., a profit for the period is shown of £213,343 4s. 1d. This, plus the amount brought forward from last year, makes a total of £216,116 14s. 4d. The dividend on the Preferred Ordinary and interim dividends on the Ordinary Shares absorbed £170,898 10s. 11d., leaving an available balance of £45,218 3s. 5d. Out of this available balance the directors propose to pay a final dividend of 50 per cent., or 1s. per share on the Ordinary Shares (making 200 per cent., or 4s. per share for the year), less tax, amounting to £25,000, to write off preliminary and formation and new issue expenses. £20,000 (making a total of £33,695 14s. 4d. written off since the formation of the company), and leaving a balance to be carried forward of £218 3s. 5d. The balance to be carried forward is very small, but the shareholders are aware that we are not a trading company requiring working capital, but only a holding company, and, as stated in the directors' report, the amount of profits carried forward by the Far East and Canadian Companies out of last year's profits is approximately £160,000. To this sum must be added a further amount of approximately £190,000, representing the undistributed profits earned from the formation of this company to the end of last year, making a grand total of about £350,000, which has been retained by the two companies as additional working capital in their business, and has been largely invested by them in additions to their factories and machinery, thus increasing the security for our Preference and other shareholders.

PROSPECTS.

As you are aware, the Far East and Canadian Companies are in no way owned or controlled by the English Dunlop Company, but arrangements exist between the English Company and the Far East and Canadian Companies, whereby each has the benefit of all patents, formulæ, etc., owned by the other, and a general interchange of ideas is provided for. You will readily appreciate the great advantages accruing to the Far East and Canadian Companies by sharing in all patent rights, trade secrets, and the benefit of the advice of such a huge and prosperous concern as the English Dunlop Company. The Canadian Company are now building a new factory, in which they intend to manufacture motor tyres. This factory will have a capacity of 2,500 tyres a day; their present capacity is 900 a day. I gather that it is hoped to have this factory working before the end of the year. The Far East Company have made many improvements in their buildings, and have added a considerable amount of new machinery and generally improved their works. In the current year they intend to re-arrange and extend their works so as to enable them to approximately double their present output. Mr. Millward, their managing director, is now on his way from Japan on a visit to this country, and he will acquaint us with what the company's proposals really are. Mr. Westren, the Canadian Company's General Manager, has now arrived on a visit to this country, and your directors will, no doubt, afford him an early opportunity of submitting to them the latest information about that company.

EXCESS PROFITS DUTY.

The Inland Revenue authorities are seeking to establish the liability of our company to pay excess profits duty. The Board are advised that such claims cannot be maintained, and are resisting the action of the inland revenue, and now await the hearing of the appeal. In conclusion, I would just remind you that your directors and their friends, recognising the country's needs, took up over £1,000,000 of Victory Bonds, and also that this company took up £550,000 making a total of 1½ million pounds worth. The company's holding was subsequently sold for £514,095.

I now have much pleasure in formally proposing—"That the directors' report and accounts for the year ended 29th February, 1920, be, and they are hereby, received, approved, and adopted."

I will ask Mr. Dawson to second this resolution, but before putting the resolution to the meeting I shall be pleased to answer any question from shareholders arising thereon.

Mr. Wilfrid Dawson seconded the motion, which was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

The Chairman then proposed that Mr. William Ewert Berry and Mr. William Cooper, the two directors retiring by rotation, be re-elected.

This, being seconded, was put to the meeting and carried, as was also the re-appointment of Messrs. Sewell, Hutchinson, and Co. as auditors of the company.

Immediately following the ordinary general meeting an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders was held for the purpose of passing a resolution altering the company's articles of association—Sir Henry Dalziel again presiding.

The Secretary having read the notice convening the meeting, the Chairman proposed the resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Irving Murray, submitted to the meeting, and approved.

The proceedings then terminated.

MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.—DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Friday.—The attendance on market continues almost of holiday description, and business seems to be a secondary consideration altogether. Irish wheat remains practically nil, and barley almost so. In the circumstances values are nominal. White oats are very stiffly held in the country, and become more and more difficult to obtain. In the meantime prices are firming up considerably; 35/- to 35/6 would now be readily paid for good standard whites, and possibly 36/6 to 37/- for prime extra bulking qualities. Blacks are not so scarce, but offerings are mostly of light quality. Tip-top character stuff in city business 31/- to 32/6, and possibly 33/- is obtainable in a retail way, whilst in bulk transactions 28/6 to 30/6 is about average cut of price. Nothing else to feature.

I BUY OATS.—A. H. Smith, 10 Burgh quay, Dublin.—(Advt.)

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES—BALTIC, Friday.—WHEAT—Allocations included the Furst Baslow, 10,000 tons Australian afloat, London, at 96/- per 480lbs. MAIZE—Cargoes not offered. Parcels met a quiet reception. Plate May-June quoted 77/6 and June-July 72/6 per 480lbs. BARLEY steady. Californian new crop August-September and September-October sellers 110/-, No. 2 Canada Western June-July 91/-, No. 4 ditto June-July 81/6, Canada feed May-June 80/6, and June-July 80/- per 400lbs. OATS quiet. Plate 42lbs. afloat quoted 55/6, May-June 59/- f.a.q., and June-July 58/- per 320lbs.

MARK LANE, Friday.—ENGLISH WHEAT—Good demand; whites delivered up to 76/6, reds 75/6. Foreign grades maintained; No. 1 Northern Manitoba 100/3 landed, No. 2 ditto 99/2 landed, No. 3 ditto 98/2 landed, Australian spot 103/11, No. 2 and winter 98/2 landed, Argentine 98/6 ex ship. FLOUR—Steady support; Canadian 65/6 ex store, American 65/6 ex store, English G.R. 65/6 ex mill, Australian patents 65/6 ex store. GRINDING BARLEY firmly held; English 90/- to 105/-, American malting 83/- landed, No. 4 Canada Western 82/- landed. OATS steady; quiet; English 64/- to 66/-, Chilian 62/- to 64/- landed, Plate 59/6 to 60/- landed, American white clipped 61/- to 61/6 landed. MAIZE—Moderate offerings; mixed American nominal, Plate 74/6 ex ship, 77/- landed.

WAKEFIELD, Friday.—Very small attendance, and little trade passing. English oats 2/- per quarter dearer. Malting barley appears to be about finished for the season. Feeding stuffs in small supply, but equal to demand.

DERBY, Friday.—A poor attendance. A few samples of OATS made 60/- per quarter, or a little over. BARLEY very scarce. WHEAT not too plentiful at control prices.

Lever's Palm Nut Cake, £9 11/3; Palm Meal, £9 16/3, free on rails, Dublin, less 5/- ton for cash. Dairy Cake and Meal, Pig Meal, Undec. Cotton Cake. Agent—William Rourke, 36 North Circular road. 'Phone—3617. Buy from the manufacturer.—(Advt.)

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN POTATO, Friday.—City trade remains quiet and narrow at previous values. Dates, say 12/-, and Champions 12/6 per cwt. A few holders of Skerries talk of raising terms to 13/6 per cwt. No further supplies of Skerries, it appears, will be available from North of Ireland, as prices are prohibitive, apart from the scandalous breach of an original working undertaking put forward four or five weeks ago to regulate certain controlling interests.

LONDON, Friday.—BUTTER—A further allotment this week of 1½oz. per capita is proceeding. It is possible that official prices may be reduced owing to the fall in price of home produce. Control prices—303/4 wholesale, 3/- per lb. retail. CHEESE—English in quiet request, while the trade is awaiting the next distribution of imported, quality of which proved unsatisfactory of late. Control prices—1/5½ lb. wholesale, 1/8 lb. retail; finest Cheshire and Cheddar, 1/7 to 1/9 lb.; free Dutch, full cream 1/4, 30 p.c. 1/2, 20 p.c. 1/-, damaged 8d. to 10d. lb. BACON—Trade very dull for American, while small lots of Canadian were available. About 8,000 bales Danish has arrived, while Irish was reduced 20/-. Irish 220/- ex factory, Danish 191/-, Canadian 187/-, American, Cumberland cut, 184/6; bellies, box, 191/- to 192/-; back, rib in, 218/-; ditto short clear, 191/-. HAMS very slow owing to controlled sales of offtakes with sides. Canadian long cut green 190/-, ditto short 190/-, American long cut green 184/-, short ditto 184/-. Shoulders, square 138/-, New York 134/6, picnics 100/-. LARD—American dull at the recent decline; Irish reduced 25/- at 170/- ex factory, American 158/6. EGGS—Market ruled firm, with a fair trade passing. Danish being still off the market; English new laid 29/- to 30/-, Irish, hen 27/- to 28/6, duck 28/- to 28/6.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.—The situation for BACON here remains in the same awkward position, the demand being again restricted owing to holders requiring buyers to take a fair proportion of low grades along with the moderate offerings of fresh parcels, Cumberlands being especially slow, even at the more liberal allowances now being made by the Claims Committee. Danish bacon nominal pending supplies, which may be available any time, and Irish offered to a fair extent, but business disappointing, even at the further reduction in price recently made. HAMS in very small compass, but buyers are reluctant to take low class bacon to secure the hams. Shoulders quiet, but supplies limited, and fresh squares practically unobtainable. LARD on the spot moved but moderately, while there are liberal offerings of both prime steam and American refined. CHEESE in fair demand for controlled at 1/5½ per lb., delivered to retailers. An allotment of 50 per cent. imported has been announced for next week. BUTTER remains steady and unaltered for controlled: Irish quoted 2/3 to 2/6 per lb. and upwards. EGGS about 26/- to 27/- for Irish hen and 27/- to 27/6 per 120 ducks.

JAMES J. HALPIN, Wholesale Provision Merchant, 18-19 Thomas street, Dublin, for Irish Bacon, Green and Smoked.—(Advt.)

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE, Friday.—Early fruit coming in slowly. Strawberries, 8/- to 12/-, 14/-, and 16/- per lb., and poor samples around 6/- to 7/-; gooseberries, 1/- to 1/- per lb. Imported goods still delayed by strike affecting Liverpool boats. Vegetables in liberal supply, and clearing satisfactorily at dear rates. Rhubarb—Very heavy offering, but selling well all the same, and notwithstanding sugar problem. Great demand for flowers—Arum lilies, 6/- to 8/- and 10/- per dozen, selected, best, and 3/9 to 5/9 general run.

DUBLIN POULTRY, Friday.—The supplies of chickens and fowl average much as before, viz., on the short side and with limited proportion of choice tender meated qualities. Ducklings have further slightly increased in quantity, but scarcely sufficient to effect any material reduction in rates, which, however, still tend to ease from recent abnormal level. Old rabbits, being tough, are not rating so dearly, perhaps 2d. each down. Good sized grazers, however, are in request, and figure around 1/8 each; old rabbits, 2/-. Chickens, dead, 2/6 per lb.; live, 2/- to 2/3; hens, 1/6 to 1/9, and extra good up to 2/- per lb. dead; young ducks, 2/- to 2/2 per lb. dead, or 6/- to 8/- and 9/- each; storish ducks neglected; young pigeons, 1/9 each; Guinea fowl, in feather, 4/6 to 5/- each.

DUBLIN FISH, Friday.—Supplies of white fish small, and most of what offered in stale order. Salmon plentiful; over 4 tons salmon shipped yesterday and 2 tons this morning. Forty packages salmon on market averaged 2/3 to 2/8 per lb.; best lobsters, 40/- to 45/- per 15; seconds, 25/- to 30/-; small, 10/- to 15/- per dozen; best soles, 40/- to 45/- per 9 pairs; mediums, 20/- to 25/-; slips, 10/- to 12/- per 9 pairs; large plaice, 4/- to 5/- per 4; others, 3/- to 5/- and 6/- per 6 and 8; half-boxes plaice, 30/- to 60/-; codfish, 35/- to 50/-; ray, 10/- to 15/-; herrings, 14/- to 16/-; mackerel, 12/- to 15/- per box.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Friday.—Liberal supply; demand fair. Salmon, 2/9 to 3/6; salmon trout, 2/- to 3/6; soles, 1/2 to 1/5; slips, 1/- to 1/4 per lb.; live eels, 35/-, dead, 15/- per draft; turbot and brill, 8/- to 9/4; halibut, 18/-; lemon soles, 14/-; plaice, 7/- to 12/-; whitties, 8/-; cod, 5/- to 8/-; whiting, 3/- to 6/-; hake, 7/- to 9/-; haddocks, 3/- to 6/- per stone.

GRIMSBY FISH, Friday.—Supply fairly good from 42 North Sea and four Iceland trawlers; demand for all classes easier. English cod, 6/- to 8/-; sprags, 5/- to 7/-; plaice, 7/- to 8/-; turbots and brills, 7/-; lemon soles, 14/-; dabs, 5/-; small haddocks, 1/6 to 2/-; kit, 3/-; gibbers, 4/6; whitings, 2/- to 3/- per stone; soles, 1/6 per lb.

MANCHESTER, Friday.—BACON—Irish reduced in price, but demand still slow. American good quality scarce; arrivals Danish expected shortly. HAMS quiet, unchanged. LARD—Notwithstanding lower prices, demand slow. CHEESE—New Zealand being distributed meets a good demand. EGGS—Irish firmer; hens 26/6 to 27/6, ducks 27/6. Danish to arrive 16lbs. 27/-. BUTTER—Some New Zealand butter of excellent quality was on the market, while Irish creameries were available at about 3/3 per lb. retail.

BUTTER AND EGGS.—LITTLE GREEN, Friday.—The situation for butter has become very unsettled and uncertain; prices over the week show a further sharp discounting. A considerable proportion of consignments, of creams, especially from Southern districts, appear to be on their way since Tuesday last, and mostly have not materialised here yet, owing to the very deficient railway facilities. If full supplies had come in there is no doubt the market would have closed the week cheaper, but, as it is, values are bumping very heavily on bottom level, and it may be that next week will open on a lower basis. Creams are becoming available in plentiful quantity, but of variable quality, and some are rating as low as 2/7 per lb., while top average lots to-day may be reckoned around 2/9 to 2/10; at all events, 3/- was very rarely paid, and difficult to get. Factories have been offering in fair quantity, but the wholesale trade is not concerning itself much with this, as there is not much outlet. Farmers' butter is still arriving, but the greater portion of it should have been on market two or three months ago, and people who have overheld it are now finding considerable disappointment. Nobody is inclined to bid for farmers' firkins out of cold stores, while fresh firkins are difficult to realise at 2/5 and 2/6 per lb., and extra nice cools perhaps 1d. or 1d. more. Coarser classes of farmers' butter are around 2/- to 2/3 per lb. As before stated, the undertone of the market is particularly slumpy, and these prices may be subject to more or less drastic discount ere next week is well in, especially for produce that may be delayed in transit. Egg supplies are palpably shorter, but still shippers seem to be more energetic in the absence of Danish arrivals in England; country folk are making a firm stand in consequence, which is reflected in the somewhat dearer turn here. Best fresh case eggs average 24/- to 26/- and 27/-; extra selected lots in retail, 27/6 to 28/- per 120. Seconds and smalls are very tedious and unsatisfactory trade at from, say 21/- to 24/-. Duck eggs have become scarce, and with quality deteriorating, rates are not so firm. Best ducks' figure 25/- to 27/-; extra selected fresh quality, 6d. to 1/- more in retail lots. Small and doubtful sorts may be reckoned in the cheaper direction.

CORK BUTTER, Friday.—Firsts, 241/-; fresh butter, 236/- per cwt.

HAY AND STRAW.—SMITHFIELD, Friday.—A very diminished market of hay and straw only to hand this morning owing to yesterday's holiday, which particularly affected country deliveries. Nevertheless, supplies proved sufficient to cover requirements, few important buyers putting in an appearance. Values in the circumstances were difficult to maintain, and some late arrivals had to be cleared at uncertain figures. Choice stuffs hay averaged 12/6 to 13/-, and an occasional fancy Co. Dublin load of first crop from shed 13/6 in early transactions, but subsequently 13/- difficult enough to get. Good medium hay, 11/- to 12/3; best old meadow, 9/- to 9/6 and 10/6; other classes, 6/- to 7/6 and 8/6 per cwt. Wheaten straw, 3/3 to 5/9 and 6/-; oaten, 4/6 to 5/6 and 5/9, per cwt., according to character and condition, and a few fancy loads extra.

TRADE REPORT.—MANCHESTER, Friday.—No improved feature presents itself to cloth sellers this morning. India and China are putting forward offers very reluctantly, and those to hand are wanting very much in quantity and stand a poor chance of acceptance. Minor outlets and home trade render only feeble assistance. Yarns in both American and Egyptian spinnings move sluggishly, and prices continue to favour buyers.

MARKET REPORT, Thursday, 13th May, 1920, of Patrick O'Connor and Son, Auctioneers, Valuers, Cattle, Sheep, and Wool Salesmen, 49 Queen street, Dublin. Telephone—535, Dublin.—Smaller numbers of cattle to-day. Brisk demand for all finished beasts, which changed hands at increased rates, local butchers being the principal purchasers. Good inquiry for fat cows. 22 of, which on our stand, the property of Messrs. Cavey, Kennedy, and Finegan, made £50 each. Sheep and lambs a slower trade.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Friday.

Apart from one or two instances, business in the homeward markets remains dull, both on private and Government account, rates being somewhat nominal, while tending easier in some cases. From the River Plate shippers still hold off, rates being unaltered at 112/6 up and 107/6 down river loading for heavy grain. Continent quiet, but fairly steady for June-July loading at 120/- down and 130/- up river loading Antwerp, Rotterdam range, with May-June loading at 110/- and 120/-, respectively. Canadian grain moved off quietly at limitation rates, while rates are worth 290/- or 300/-. Northern range American ports are steady for grain to Europe, but only a moderate business is passing. American coals continue to attract attention, but with tonnage ample rates easier, especially for distant loading. To River Plate 13 dollars is indicated, 18 dollars Antwerp, Rotterdam, 19 dollars North France, and 22 dollars Italy for single voyages, with proportionately less money for a series of trips. There is a good demand for West India sugar cargoes, and 140/- offering French Atlantic ports. Eastern markets quiet, and rates nominal. Karachi Bombay indicates 75/- reals, and 100/- on dead weight home, while Sweden paid 170/- for Java sugar. Australian grain unaltered. Mineral ore quiet from Spanish ports, and tendency of values weak. Outward coal quiet, with tonnage in liberal supply to near Continent, but rate fairly steady to Italy. Time charter remains slow at recent quotations. Coasting business continues on a fairly liberal scale at full limitation rates. Fixtures—Rosamond, 6,000 tons, Mauritius to U.K., 12th May, 12th June (rate to be fixed), sugar.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL CROP.

In the House of Representatives at Melbourne, Mr. Hughes, Prime Minister, urged farmers to co-operate in the marketing of their wool and wheat. The Commonwealth Government would request the Imperial Government not to sell wool while Australian growers were selling the new clip. That was a fair request, as the Imperial Government had sometimes bought wool at less than one-third of its true value. Mr. Hughes advised wool-growers to notify the world that their wool was going to be sold in Australia.

BRISK TRADE FOR SHORTHORNS.

The Penrith Shorthorn Show and sale concluded yesterday with the sale by Messrs. Thornborrow and Co. of the bulls. These numbered 152, and averaged over £82 per head. They were bought largely by breeders from over a wide area. Messrs. Jackson's yearling, Newton Knight, was sold at 300 gns. to Messrs. Drabble Bros., who also paid 220 gns. for Mr. G. Harrison's young bull, Kinellar Rover. Mr. J. A. Williams, York, gave 300 gns. for the yearling, Penwortham Ingram, exhibited by Mr. A. R. Fish, Hutton, near Preston, another good price being 250 gns. which Lady Burton paid for Mr. T. Robinson's Forest Lad. Messrs. Barnes' first prize yearling, Roan Star C., realised 140 gns. from Mr. Kay, Ranger, and Mr. J. Hewson's Village Benedict 140 gns. from Mr. Irving, Carlisle. Mr. G. Wren's Crosswaithe Swell, another first prize winner, was bought by Mr. Pickering, Tamworth, for 240 gns.

LADIES' OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

MISS CECIL LEITCH'S GREAT WIN.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

To-day in the final for the Ladies' Open Championship Miss Cecil Leitch retained the title, which she won in 1914, by beating Miss Griffiths in what was, in some respects, a disappointing match. The Sunningdale girl, for Miss Griffiths is little more than a girl, had been playing such remarkable golf as to justify the hope that the final would provide one of the closest matches of the week, but she proved altogether unequal to the strain, and, with Miss Leitch playing golf that was really wonderful for a woman, the issue was never in doubt after the first three holes had been decided. Miss Griffiths, however, displayed great courage in circumstances calculated to unnerve even a more seasoned and experienced player. She was fighting an uphill battle all along. Miss Griffiths played her second shots and irons just as well as her opponent, but Miss Leitch's tee shots were magnificent, and her golf, all round, faultless. Indeed, few first-class amateurs of the day would have done much better in a championship final than she did this morning over the first eighteen holes. A worthy champion of British ladies' golf is Miss Leitch.

FIRST ROUND.

The champion was out-driven at the first hole, but, playing a fine running iron shot and holing a two yards' putt, got a 5 for the lead. Miss Leitch again had to play the odd at the second, but after she had holed her two yards' putt, Miss Griffiths failed at a shorter one. Another two yards' putt at the third put the holder even further ahead. For the first time Miss Griffiths played the odd and duffed her second to the long fourth. Miss Leitch did the same, and a half in 6 resulted. Miss Griffiths played the better second to the fifth green, and won her first hole, and a perfect iron to within a yard of the pin at the short sixth reduced the odds to a single hole. The shot Miss Griffiths played here was one of the finest of the morning.

This appeared to put a different complexion upon the match, but Miss Leitch increased her lead at the seventh by running her putt down from the edge of the green for another win, and a perfect four at the eighth gave the champion an advantage of three again. At this hole Miss Griffiths played her first really bad shot, a half-topped drive. Both got fours at the ninth, and Miss Leitch, out in a fine 40, turned 3 up. Miss Leitch had a chance of increasing her lead at the eleventh, but was robbed of the advantage by a stymie. She won the twelfth, however, by holing a five yards' putt, after Miss Griffiths had holed a longer one. The latter, however, had been bunkered from her drive, and taken 2 to get out. Miss Leitch's drive at the thirteenth was one of her best shots, but a half in 5 resulted, as was the issue of the next hole. Miss Griffiths found a bad lie from her second at the fifteenth, and had no chance of a half, but she missed a short putt to halve the seventeenth, and, halving the last hole, Miss Leitch finished the round 6 up, having a card of 80, against Miss Griffiths' 83.

SECOND ROUND.

Miss Griffiths made a magnificent recovery after losing the first hole. She putted badly, and threw away the second hole on the green when she had it safe; but she took the third, when Miss Leitch was again in trouble, from the tee. Miss Griffiths lost the next, being short with her approach putt. The sixth Miss Leitch lost, and, as the champion pulled into the rough at the seventh, Miss Griffiths became only 5 down. A perfect 4 won the eighth for the Sunningdale lady, who was now only 4 down. She lost the ninth, however, where the champion holed a four yards' putt for a magnificent 2, her opponent failing at two yards for a half. The short tenth went to Miss Leitch after a half. At the eleventh Miss Griffiths was in trouble from the next tee, taking two to recover from the bunker, and Miss Leitch, being two yards from the pin in 2, was given the hole for the match by 7 up and 6 to play.

RESULT.

Miss Cecil Leitch (Carlisle and Silloth) beat Miss Molly Griffiths (Sunningdale)—7 and 6.

SCOTTISH PROFESSIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

At Gleneagles, Perthshire, on Thursday, the features of the day were the facts that play took place in half a gale and the consistent steadiness and occasional brilliance of Tom Fernie, who won his fourth championship, he having been champion in 1909, 1910, and 1919. Details:—T. Fernie (Turnberry), aggregate 332 (championship and £35); Thomson (Berwick), aggregate 336 (£25); G. Thomson (Peterhead), aggregate 343 (£20); L. Auchterlonie (St. Andrews), aggregate 344 (£16); D. Souter (Kingsknowe), aggregate 345 (£5).

CRICKET.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY v. CLONTARF.

This two-day fixture was started yesterday in splendid weather in the College Park on a slow wicket. Trinity, winning the toss, started with Kelly and Rollins, but with the score at 25 the latter was "yorked" by Roberts. On Power joining Kelly a good start was made, the pair adding 72 before the Trinity captain was caught off a full pitch on the square leg boundary for 36. Another useful partnership was struck when Heaslip came in, 68 being added quickly, when Kelly was out for a well put together 76. He was batting over an hour-and-a-half, gave no chance, and hit one 6, three 4's, and four 3's. Heaslip left soon after having hit clean and hard for 43. The innings, which occupied 2½ hours, closed for 254. Roberts came out with the best bowling figures with 4 wickets for 77, while the other left-hander, Ledwidge, secured 3 for 73. In the three-quarters of an hour left for play Clontarf fared disastrously, losing 5 wickets for 24. Play will be continued to-day at 2 o'clock sharp. Score:—

M.C.C. v. NOTTS.

When play in this match was resumed at Lord's yesterday Marylebone Club, with 8 wickets left, required but 82 runs to win, and these were obtained in little more than an hour for the loss of three further wickets. Captain Barrett and Mead, overnight not-outs, batted soundly till the total reached 157, when very smart stumping by Oates dismissed Barrett, after a stay of two hours twenty minutes, his play including twelve 4's. Kennedy hit a 6 and a 4 in one over from Staples, and then being badly missed by Barrett at mid-off, J. Gunn was bowled by Staples, who quickly claimed Jephson. Still the club only required ten runs when Dalmeny went in, and as he promptly hit a couple of 4's to boundary, the club won the match with five wickets in hand. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Notts	63	289
M.C.C.	143	212 (for 5).

SUSSEX v. WARWICKSHIRE.

SUSSEX WINS BY 138 RUNS.

At Brighton yesterday the Midlanders required 330 to win, with nine wickets to fall. They lost three wickets early to the excellent bowling of Gilligan and Jupp, but Quaife, Baker, and Calthorpe batted well, Quaife taking two and a half hours over a faultless 60, not out. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Sussex	156	383 (8)*
Warwickshire	182	219

* Innings declared closed.

LANCASHIRE v. LEICESTERSHIRE.

When play resumed at Old Trafford, Manchester, yesterday, Leicestershire required 136 to win, only two wickets standing. Parkin finished off the innings, which concluded for 125. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Leicestershire	64	125
Lancs	144	174

OXFORD UNIVERSITY v. MIDDLESEX.

At Oxford yesterday Middlesex succeeded in heading the Oxford total of 235 by 24 runs. This was due to excellent batting by Lee (50) and also by Hendren, who finished the innings with 87 to his credit. The Oxford Freshmen, Jardine (60) and Hedges (54, including 5 fours), played the most delightful cricket seen in the parks this season. When play ceased Oxford were 129 on with wickets in hand. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Middlesex	259

THE KING OF BEASTS.

A lion is not often addressed as "pussy." Having more of the obvious cattishness of the tiger, it is quite commonly supposed to partake rather of the noble nature of the dog; but zoologically it is a cat pure and simple. Collusion between poets, painters, and political orators has given the lion a status which it has done nothing real to deserve, and a reaction is perceptible among naturalists. Its shock of hair and self-satisfied attitude in captivity are republican rather than regal. Its roar may be impressive under the roof of the Roberts House, but in its native haunts it indulges by night in most unkingly caterwauling. It lies in wait in the grass to spring on zebra or antelope, but is willing to forego this effort if the discovery of some ignoble carrion provides a readier meal. The lion will quarrel with the lioness over his food, and has been known to kill and eat her, too. Lions are found in many parts of Africa, and here and there through Mesopotamia and Persia to North-Western India, but even in historical times their distribution was much wider in Southern Asia. The tawny and black-maned lions, the latter represented in the Dublin "Zoo," by the venerable "Menelik," are not distinct varieties; both may be the offspring of the same parents. The spotted skin of the cubs blends with the spots of sunlight falling through the foliage of the jungle, and is a provision of nature for their concealment.

DUNDALK MEETING—YESTERDAY.

The weather was of a more genial description for the second afternoon's racing, and again the sport was fairly interesting. Mowglis Bride and Pamtoi were the only runners for the Castlebellingham Hurdle Plate, and odds were laid on the former, who looked like winning until she ran out at the last hurdle. She subsequently jumped it all right, but, in the meantime, Pamtoi had won the race. Entered to be sold for 100 sovs., there was no bid for the winner at the subsequent sale, and then a field of eight runners turned out for the Castletown Plate. Good Points was always in chief request in the wagering, and, getting the measure of Magic Maid inside the distance, the son of Tredennis carried his big impost to clever victory. Barney's Lassie looked to have won the Ravensdale Plate when she headed Discarded at the entrance to the straight, but was unable to withstand the vigorous challenge of Moonbeam in the last hundred yards, and the latter, running on gamely, won comfortably enough in the end. Dudley and Pam Nut were joint favourites for the Dundalgan Plate, but, whereas the former never flattered in the race, Pam Nut was going really well up to the last fence. A bad mistake here, however, spoiled his chance, and he was headed by Perseverance and Drumbuck, the latter of this pair, a rank outsider, scoring in easy style. There was another upset to calculations over the Directors' Plate, for which Bay was a strong favourite, and King of Bees also carried a lot of money. Bay never looked like winning, and, after Unity had shaped all over a winner, the outsider, Flash o' Flames, tackled her close home and won easily. Barty, who ran in disappointing fashion in the deep going at Limerick, was always galloping over his opponents in the Northern Plate, and won by just as far as his jockey cared to allow him. LONDON BETTING—YESTERDAY.

There was only a weak market last night. The three front-rankers—Tetratema, Allenby, and Spion Kop—were all slightly easier for the Derby, Tetratema closing quiet at 7 to 2, and Allenby at 5's. There was more money for Sarchedon than Spion Kop, and Prince Galahad came back to 20's. Details:—

POLO.

ALL-IRELAND CLUB.

OPENING OF THE SEASON.

After a series of disappointments, yesterday's delightful weather conditions enabled the All-Ireland Club's season to be opened with a number of practice games at the Cabra enclosure. This conveniently situated ground was in very good condition, despite the recent spell of heavy rain, and some promising form was shown in what was, of course, figuratively speaking, only a "preliminary canter." The Club is looking forward confidently to a very busy season, all the arrangements for which will this year be undertaken by Captain W. Goulding, as Honorary Secretary, who may be depended upon to assure its success.

Amongst those taking part in yesterday's practice were:—Captain B. Daly, Captain W. Goulding, Captain Wyndham-Quin, Captain S. A. Watt, Mr. T. I. Roark, Mr. E. C. Roark, Captain C. T. Roark, Captain King-French, Mr. James Daly, Captain Godman (15th Hussars), Captain Hanbury (15th Hussars), Mr. T. P. Tyrrell, Hon. K. Mackay, Captain de Pret, Mr. T. Ray, and Major B. Nicholson.

TO-DAY'S FIXTURE.

To-day, at 3.15 o'clock, a match will be played on the Nine Acres, Phœnix Park, between Captain W. Goulding's team and Captain S. A. Watt's team. This game will be followed by a practice at four o'clock.

MEATH CLUB.—Practice at Garlow Cross on Monday, 17th inst., at 3.30 p.m.

BOXING.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR JIMMY WILDE.

(PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN TELEGRAM.)

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday.

Jimmy Wilde knocked out Battling Murray in the second round of an eight-round contest here to-day. The knock-out blow, a right to the jaw, was so vicious that a count was not required. The knock-out came after two minutes 15 seconds of fighting. Murray had previously taken a count of eight from a left hook to the head. In the first round Murray staggered Wilde with a right hook, and the Welshman appeared worried, as the Philadelphian aggressively followed up the blow, but before the end of the round Wilde rallied, and finished up strong. Wilde opened the second round by landing on Murray's left eye, putting the American completely on the defensive, after which Wilde finished him off quickly.

CORK CORPORATION AND KUNO MEYER.

At a meeting of the Cork Corporation last night, Lord Mayor MacSweeney presiding, Mr. Quail proposed that the resolution passed in January, 1915, ordering that the name of Professor Kuno Meyer be expunged from the Roll of Honorary Freemen, be rescinded, and that his name be restored to the roll.

Mr. Donel O'Callaghan seconded the motion.

Mr. Byrne, objecting, said that he had gone out to fight the Germans, and Kuno Meyer was a German. He did not see why such a man should be made a freeman of the ancient City of Cork. Kuno Meyer's kinsmen murdered thousands of Irishmen.

The Lord Mayor said that they could all sympathise with Councillor Byrne without agreeing with him. At the same time there was nothing in the point about Kuno Meyer being a German, because the present King of England was a first cousin of the Kaiser. Kuno Meyer had proved by his researches that the ancient Irish were a cultured race.

The motion was passed, Mr. Byrne dissenting.

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

CURIOUS GUARDIANS' ELECTION RESULT.—Mr. James Henry and his two sons, Mr. John Henry and Mr. James Henry, jun., all of Mill street, Ballymena, Co. Antrim, have been elected as three of the six sitting members of the Ballymena Board of Guardians.

THE DERRY BAKERS' STRIKE.—The Derry bakers' strike continues, and it is very improbable that there will be any settlement during the week-end. No bread is being baked in the city. The master bakers have intimated to the authorities that they are prepared to bake bread themselves for public institutions provided the authorities give military or police protection, but so far no steps have been taken in this direction.

MOTOR TAXATION.—The Co. Wexford Committees of Agriculture and Technical Instruction have requested the Department of Agriculture, County Councils, and County Committees to press for the exemption of vehicles used for agriculture from the proposed motor taxation.

WEXFORD MEN'S GALLANTRY ACKNOWLEDGED.—At Wexford Petty Sessions, James Murphy and James Reck, Bride street, Wexford, were presented with the Royal Humane Society's parchment certificates for gallantry in the saving of the life of S. Campbell, who fell over Wexford quay.

PAYMENT OF ASYLUM WORKERS.—The Mullingar District Lunatic Asylum Committee of Management decided at their meeting yesterday to adopt the scale of wages laid down by the All-Ireland Conference—viz., £5 10/- per month minimum for female workers, and £5 for males, increasing by £6 annually to £72 and £90 respectively.

GUARDIANS AND INCOME TAX.—When an application came before the Carrick-on-Shannon Board of Guardians from the Income Tax offices for a return for the purpose of income tax, the Board decided that the Clerk be directed not to furnish any such return, the Chairman (Mr. Conway) remarking that he thought they should not pay income tax.

STEWART INSTITUTION FOR IMBECILE CHILDREN.

The Managing Committee met on Monday last at their offices, Molesworth street. Present:—J. William Copland, Esq. (Chair); F. C. Earle Bland, Samuel P. Wilmot, and Orlando P. Beater, LL.B., Esquires. The Medical Superintendent (Dr. T. E. Rainsford) reported favourably as to the health of the Institution since last meeting. Several new children had recently been admitted on special terms, and good private accommodation was still available for further applications when received. Certain repair works recently ordered were approaching completion, and also new boiler and pumping arrangements. The coal supply was still a great difficulty, an insufficient quantity being received weekly for ordinary requirements. Considerable trouble had also arisen owing to continued labour strikes, obliging tillage arrangements to be largely suspended and working staff dispensed with, entailing great uncertainties as to the future. These difficulties were largely interfering with the possibilities of new admissions of children for some time to come, which the Committee would beg their friends to note. Various questions relating to administration were considered and directions given. Accounts payable were examined, and cheques drawn to the extent of £1,340. The following annual subscriptions were announced:—Rev. J. Blair, £5 5/-; Orlando P. Beater, Esq., LL.B., £4 4/- (subscription doubled); His Excellency Viscount French, £5; Messrs. J. The Committee earnestly call attention to the heavy extra need for further help as there is still a heavy overdraft due to their bankers. Donations from the Presidents, Vice-Presidents, and Governors are badly required, and the Committee would particularly urge the desirability of intending Testators keeping in view the claim of the Institution, which has no grants of any kind. Contributions will be thankfully received by any member of the Committee or at the office. 125 pupils in Institution.

A fire has destroyed the Union Jute Press Godown, containing 20,000 bales (says a Calcutta telegram). The damage is estimated at over three lakhs of rupees (£30,000).

Mileage Cost

The cost of a car is outlay plus upkeep. If the latter is low the former is justified. Chalmers is not a cheap car but it saves pounds in maintenance. Compared with any other car the Chalmers is, mile for mile, the most economical running.

The "Hot Spot"
Chalmers
America's Favourite Six

is famous for its Hot Spot which pulverises the spray and its Ram's Horn which distributes that spray equally and immediately among all the cylinders, thereby increasing acceleration and speed, ensuring smoothness of running and giving longer life to the engine.

OPERETTA AT LITTLE THEATRE.

The pupils of Madame Quinton Rosse gave a very creditable rendering of her operetta, "The Egyptian Princess," in the Little Theatre last evening. The hall was filled to overflowing. The characters are all female, and the various parts were well filled. The rôle of Alva fell to Miss Jennie Breen, who sang and acted with great charm. The title rôle was capably filled by Miss Lyla Maxwell. Mrs. Dorothy Little (née Webb) showed quite exceptional comedy gifts in the difficult part of Princess Tabubu, who is always late for everything, and whose gaucherie is the only humorous element in the piece. Other parts capably filled were:—Queen (Miss Lily Synnott), Nyssa (Miss G. Valentine), Phila (Miss Lisa Mullett), Herub, a fortune teller (Miss Youkstetter); Queen Grania (Miss N. Ryan). Dances by Miss Cissie Kelly and Baby Morton were charming interludes. Madame Rosse conducted, and was capably assisted by Miss Frieda Brown, who presided at the piano.

IRISH DOCK LABOUR DISPUTE.

The following official report has been supplied by the Ministry of Labour:—

The Negotiating Committee appointed by the All-Ireland Conference of Employers and Trade Unions, which met in Dublin on May 7th to deal with wages and conditions at all Irish ports, has held a series of meetings during the week, and has made satisfactory progress. The deep sea, grain, and cross-Channel trade sections of the Committee have settled the principles on which detailed working agreements are to be arrived at locally, and it is expected that the coal trade section will reach the same stage in the early part of next week.

As soon as the various local agreements have been put into operation it is intended to set up standing local committees of employers and employés concerned in all sections of the shipping trade at each port, so as to secure regular machinery for the settlement of disputes and for the discussion of all matters of interest to both parties. From such local committees will be constituted a central council to deal with general questions affecting the trade in Ireland and to co-ordinate the action of the various local committees.

A New York telegram, dated Thursday, states:—The Socialist put forward for Vice-President of the United States is Mr. Seymour Stedman, a Chicago lawyer, who has defended many Socialists in the courts.

IMPORTANT AND ATTRACTIVE SALE OF RESIDENTIAL FARM.
RYEBROOK, LEIXLIP, most convenient to Leixlip Railway Station, and [illegible] miles from Dublin.

P. O'CONNOR and SON are favoured with instructions from Dr. Skipworth to SELL BY PRIVATE TREATY his Farm as above, containing 157a. 2r. 2p., Statute measure, held subject to the moderate judicial rent of £175, and terminable Board of Works charge of £18 per annum.

The residence is a most attractive one in bungalow style, approached by a short avenue neatly planted with shrubs and flowers. It contains 3 reception rooms, 9 bedrooms, kitchen with close range, bathroom (hot and cold), servants' apartments, etc., all in perfect order, and not requiring any outlay whatever.

Adjoining the house is a spacious tennis ground, with fully stocked fruit and flower garden; also kitchen garden, fully planted; also 1½ acres young fruit trees, in full bearing. There are four very large greenhouses 100 feet long, fully stocked with cucumbers, tomatoes, peaches, vines, etc., which produce a very substantial sum per annum.

The out-offices in two enclosed yards comprise 7 loose boxes, 6 stalls, harness room, man's room, lofts, cow sheds to hold 40 cows, food house, and two enclosed yards, with large iron hay shed.

On the opposite side of the farm is also another large iron hay barn, with cattle sheds, and enclosed yard. There are three large water tanks supplied with water by an oil engine, which give an unfailing supply to the house and out-offices. On the farm are three comfortable slated cottages.

The lands are watered by the River Rye, which flows through the farm. About 13 Irish acres are under crops of oats, barley, mangolds, potatoes, and turnips; about 23 Irish acres under 1st, 2nd crop and upland meadows, and the remainder in grass, of excellent quality, divided into convenient divisions. There is also a very valuable sand and gravel pit on the holding, which should, if developed, prove a most valuable source of income.

The property is most conveniently situated, being only 5 minutes' walk from Leixlip Railway Station and 10 miles from Dublin, and forms a most attractive and desirable investment.

"THE TIPPERARY PEOPLE," ESTABLISHED 1875, CONSISTING OF
AN EXTENSIVE JOB PRINTING AND NEWSPAPER BUSINESS,
Together with CHARMING RESIDENCE, UP-TO-DATE STATIONERY and OFFICES, AS A GOING CONCERN.

WE are instructed by Miss M'CORMACK (who is Retiring from Business) to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, at THE TOWN HALL, TIPPERARY, ON SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1920, AT THE HOUR OF 1 O'CLOCK (NEW TIME) SHARP,
THE VALUABLE & OLD-ESTABLISHED WEEKLY NEWSPAPER known as "THE TIPPERARY PEOPLE," together with extensive JOB PRINTING BUSINESS, MACHINERY, and PLANT, and the handsome Dwelling-Residence and Stationery Premises situate at Davis street, in the Town of Tipperary. The Dwelling-house and Premises are held under lease for 80 years from 1st March, 1884, at the nominal yearly rent of £4 15s.

DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS.

The sale of this important Business Establishment presents one of the most attractive and lucrative investments placed on the market for many years. The entire Printing Plant has been recently refitted, regardless of expense, with all the latest modern inventions, and is replete with all necessary machinery, in perfect working order.

The frontage is about 45 feet to Davis street, by a depth of about 80 feet. The house, three storeys, occupies about half the frontage; the remaining portion is available for building or other purposes. The Stationery premises, Machine and Composing Rooms are at the back. The House—in perfect condition—comprises hallway, kitchen, scullery, sittingroom, diningroom, three bedrooms, servant's room, bathroom, and w.c. The fittings of the Stationery Premises have been recently constructed, and all the woodwork consists of solid mahogany.

The vendor has been favoured with numerous contracts for printing and advertisements from public bodies in Limerick, Clonmel, Thurles, Kilmallock, Cashel, and Tipperary, and has enjoyed these favours since the establishment of the business 45 years ago. The Job Printing is one of the leading features of the concern, being patronised by all the Auctioneers, professional gentlemen, and all ranks of business people in Limerick and Tipperary. The Newspaper itself has a wide circulation in the Counties of Tipperary and Limerick. No more desirable or better-equipped premises of its kind could be found, and the present offer of sale affords an opportunity to acquire, not alone a progressive existing business, but one capable of great development in the future.

The yearly Turn-over is very substantial, particulars of which can be given to intending purchasers. All facilities for inspection, verification, etc., shall be afforded on appointment.

The Purchaser can have THE STOCK-IN-TRADE IF SO DESIRED, AT A VALUATION.

Purchaser to pay a deposit of one-fourth the purchase money, together with 5 per cent. Auction fees, on being declared. For further particulars and Conditions of Sale, apply to
